

FEAR THAT 16 YEAR OLD LOWELL BOY IS KIDNAPPED

Alexandre Paquette Missing From
Home—Arm Cut Off in Accident—Suits Pending

Alexandre Paquette, aged 16 years, son of Mr. Isander Paquette of 302 West Sixth street, has been missing from home for the past month and thereby hangs a tale which is somewhat difficult to solve. Several institutions of education in New England have already been searched for the missing boy and considerable fruitless efforts on the part of private detectives have been made to locate the boy. The father of the missing boy says that his attorney, a German lawyer in Poughkeepsie, has offered a reward of $300 for his recovery; for it is believed the young fellow was either kidnapped or induced to get out of the way, inasmuch as there is a $20,000 suit pending against a railroad company on account of an accident to the boy.

Alexandre Paquette left home on June 1, 1912, and all efforts to locate him were fruitless. Some time in October the father received word that his son had been injured on the railroad in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He went to the latter place and there found his boy in a hospital with the left arm and three toes of the left foot amputated. The little fellow told his father that he was employed by a farmer in a little town near Poughkeepsie and inasmuch as his employer broke his engagement with him, he left his work and went to the railroad station. He said he was acquainted with a brakeman who allowed him to ride blind baggage. He was seated on a flat car, when the train turned a curve, and the sudden jolt sent him rolling to the tracks, where his left arm and three toes of his left foot were crushed.

The father through a German lawyer of Poughkeepsie brought suit against the railroad company for $20,000, and against the farmer who employed the boy for $10,000, both writs returnable last November.

A short time later the boy returned to his father's home, 302 West Sixth street, this city, and remained there up to a short time before the law suits were to be called. On Monday, Nov. 18, two unknown men called at the Paquette residence and spoke with Alexandre, making an engagement with the boy to meet them at Merrimack square at 9:15 a. m. the following Wednesday.

The boy told his father of the engagement, but did not refer to the nature of the meeting. He left home at 9 o'clock that morning and has not returned since. A few days later the Poughkeepsie lawyer was notified of the boy's disappearance and he immediately came to Lowell, meeting Mr. Paquette at a downtown hotel. According to the father, the lawyer feared that the boy had been kidnapped or induced for probably a small sum of money to keep out of the way on account of the suits pending. Detectives were put on the boy's trail, but their efforts to locate him have been fruitless. Institutions of education were searched and again without any avail. The boy is in hiding somewhere according to his father's view of the case, and may never return.

When he left home, he wore a blue coat with white pencil stripes, knee pants of the same fabric, and a gray cap and black shoes. His left arm is amputated above the elbow, and the boy has a large scar on the forehead. He is sixteen years of age and well built for his age.

LUMBER DEALERS APPEAL

From Decision of N. Y.
Federal Court

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The Eastern States Retail Lumber Dealers' association, a section of the so-called lumber trust, appealed today to the supreme court from the decision of the New York federal court, which held its members were violating the Sherman law. Lumber dealers throughout the New England and Middle Atlantic states as far south as Washington, are involved in the suit, which was prosecuted for the government by Clark McVicker, assistant attorney general.

BANK CLOSED ITS DOORS

Atlantic National of Providence Suspends

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 14.—The Atlantic National bank today closed its doors and was taken in charge by National Bank Examiner Joseph Balch at the request of the board of directors. At noon the officers of the bank, the Industrial Trust company and the Union Trust company came to the Atlantic National bank's rescue by volunteering to loan to the closed bank's depositors 50 per cent. of their net deposits. It was announced that a receiver would be appointed by the comptroller of the currency. The suspension followed closely a change in the management. Edward P. Metcalf, who had been president for several years, resigned on April 10, because of ill health and Percy Gardner, a young attorney was appointed to succeed him. Metcalf is now on his way to Europe.

$2400 EMBEZZLEMENT

Asst. Postmaster Brayton
Held in $3000

BOSTON, April 14.—Robert Brayton, assistant postmaster at Brockton, who is charged with embezzling $2400 from the money order department of the Brockton postoffice, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hayes here today and held in bail of $3000 for a hearing April 20. Postal authorities say that Brayton has admitted the embezzlement.

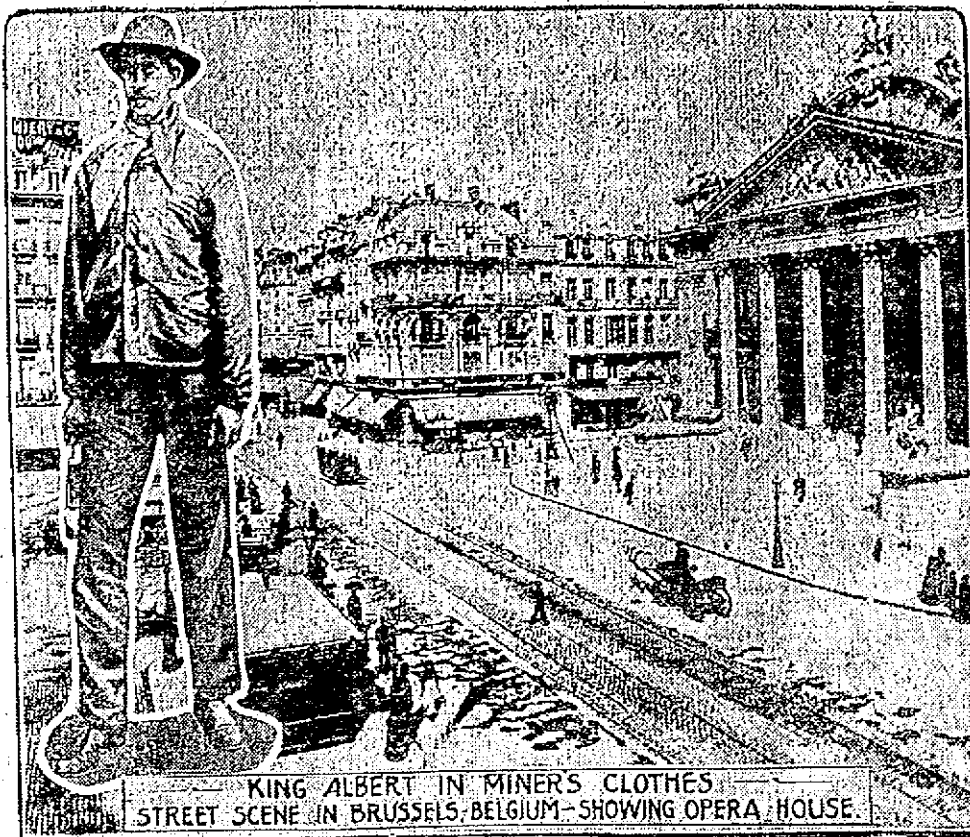

TO MAKE BANGOR DRY

Special Liquor Squad at Work

BANGOR, Me., April 14.—With a special liquor squad of six deputies Sheriff Emerson is making every effort to make Bangor "dry" and from the general appearance of the familiar places where alcoholic beverages have been dispensed during the past several years it looks as though he is meeting with a measure of success. Sheriff Emerson denies that he stated that he was going to make Bangor "dry." What he did say was that he would enforce the prohibition law in Penobscot county to the best of his ability and as far as possible with the force that he has at hand.

250,000 STRIKE IN BELGIUM TODAY

KING ALBERT IN MINERS' CLOTHES
STREET SCENE IN BRUSSELS-BELGIUM—SHOWING OPERA HOUSE

Vast Political Strike for Manhood Suffrage Began at Dawn This Morning

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 14.—The vast political strike for manhood suffrage in Belgium prepared with such skill by the socialist workmen's trade unions began at dawn today when the night shifts came out of many of the mines and mills throughout the country, leaving them empty except for a few caretakers, told off by the socialist leaders to keep the property from deteriorating. At least a quarter of a million men laid down their tools, according to reports given out in representative non-socialist quarters. In many districts there were exceptions to the general walkout and only loose estimates are ventured either by the socialists or by the state ministers as to the number of men affected. The strike is complete in places such as the mining districts. In Brussels itself the strike must be looked for in order to be found. Probably a quarter of the workmen engaged in the suburbs where the manufactories are located did not go into the shops. The socialist committee sitting at the headquarters of the people's party announced that 20,000 men had struck work in the capital. Report after report from the provinces tell of complete or nearly complete stoppage of work at Liege, Charleroi, Mons, La Louviere and other smaller cities. At Mons alone it is estimated that there are 40,000 strikers and at La Louviere 25,000, most of them belonging to the metal, carriage building and tobacco trades.

STRIKE GENERAL—ATTEMPT MADE TO CUT TELEGRAPH WIRES IN LA LOUVIERE

LA LOUVIERE, Belgium, April 14.—The miners strike here was general this morning; not a man beyond those necessary to keep the machinery in order having gone into the mines. Except for one pottery all the factories were closed. The street cars were operating as usual during the forenoon but the strike of the motormen and conductors was timed to begin at seven o'clock this evening. Some attempts have been made to cut telegraph wires in the vicinity.

MINERS AND INDUSTRIAL CONCERN WORKERS QUIT AT LIEGE AND SURROUNDING SUBURBS

LIEGE, Belgium, April 14.—Work ceased this morning in the greater number of the industrial concerns here and in the surrounding suburbs of Bressoux, Jupille and Wandre. Of 3500 workmen 1400 remained at their machines.

In the national arms factory at Herstal the strike was complete. All the coal miners at Seraing, Jemeppe, Tilleur, Montegnè, Flemmalle-Haute, Flemmalle-Grande and St. Nicholas have stopped work.

25,000 COAL MINERS IN MONS DISTRICT QUIT THIS MORNING

MONS, Belgium, April 14.—Of the 20,000 coal miners in this district, all have quit their work except 2000, who are keeping the machinery running.

EVERYTHING IS CLOSED AT QUIEVRAIN—MANY LEAVE THE CITY

QUIEVRAIN, Belgium, April 14.—Everything is closed here. Half the workmen have gone over the frontier into France, which is only a short distance away, to find temporary occupation.

POTTERIES IN NEIGHBORHOOD OF GHENT ARE ALL IDLE—WORKERS QUIT

GHENT, Belgium, April 14.—The potteries in this neighborhood are all idle today but in the linen and cotton mills something more than half the workmen have gone over the frontier into France, where all quit. The metal workers also all went out but a few cement workers are reported to have continued work.

POPE PIUS GROWING WEAKER

He Took Little Notice of Those
Around Him Today—Passed
Tranquil Night

ROME, April 14.—While the bulletin it will not come for days. Even the streets about the pope's palace are not unusually crowded. Early tourists are allowed in the galleries of the Vatican although the bronze door is closed to the public. Carriages drive up frequently conveying cardinals, ambassadors and high prelates to inquire about the pope's condition and to read the latest bulletins and if possible to speak with one or other of the doctors.

The pope's physicians seek by every means to evade would-be interviewers, and when that is impossible they are utterly non-committal. Prof. Marchisiani when questioned as to whether the bulletins issued from the Vatican reached the public just as they left his hands merely smiled. The journalists interpret that smile each according to his private belief.

BRICKLEY COMING HERE

Harvard Glee Club to Give Concert

The Harvard Glee, Mandolin and Banjo clubs will give a concert in Colonial hall Friday evening, April 25, at 8 o'clock. Mr. Lionel de Jersey Harvard, a direct descendant of the founder of Harvard college, will accompany the clubs and will sing, while Charles A. Brickley, who was prevented from attending the Harvard banquet held in this city some time ago, will act as head usher during the evening. Great preparations are being made and it is expected that this will be a big Harvard night in Lowell. Mr. Edwin Stewart Giles of Lowell will direct the concert.

Superior Court
The case of Goulet vs. the city of Lowell, a suit for the recovery for alleged injuries received while walking on a defective sidewalk in Salem street, which was started in superior court last Friday, was resumed this morning and occupied the court's attention all day.

LATE J. P. MORGAN BURIED TODAY AT HARTFORD, CONN.

Funeral Services First Held in St.
George's Episcopal Church,
New York

NEW YORK, April 14.—Funeral services over the body of J. P. Morgan were held this morning in St. George's Episcopal church, where he had worshipped for half a century. Afterward a special train conveyed the funeral party to Hartford, Conn., for final services at the Morgan mausoleum at Cedar Hill cemetery. Blanketed by a covering of red roses, the coffin left the Morgan library, where the body had lain since Friday night, and was conveyed to the church. A vested choir of 250 voices preceded the funeral party into St. George's. Behind the choir came the clergy, then the pallbearers, the coffin and the family. Fifteen hundred persons were crowded into the church. Admission was by card only. So great had been the demand for tickets that many hundreds could not be accommodated. The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Karl Relland, rector of St. George's, the Right Rev. William Lawrence, bishop of Boston, the Right Rev. Chauncey Brewster, bishop of Connecticut.

F. F. AYER GIVES ANOTHER $5000

FREDERICK FANNING AYER

For the Tuberculosis Camp of the Lowell General Hospital—A Letter to Dr. Stowell

Dr. Charles A. Stowell, president of the trustees of the Lowell General hospital, this morning received a letter from Frederick Fanning Ayer of New York, announcing another donation of $5,000 for the tuberculosis camp, which will open some time in the first week of May at the same place on the hospital grounds.

This is good news for the sufferers from tuberculosis, who may have an opportunity to receive treatment at the camp. In his letter Mr. Ayer states that he considers the educational value of the camp fully as important as the actual cures effected. The patients who are treated there go out into their respective circles to spread the knowledge they have received as to the scientific treatment of the disease. In this way they educate others and help materially in the general work, not only of fighting but preventing the malady which gains its greatest foothold from lack of knowledge as to the best methods of combating its progress.

Dr. Stowell states that there are always more applicants than can be accommodated and those who apply first will get the places.

Dr. Pillsbury and Dr. Lambert had charge of the camp last year and they will probably be the physicians in charge this year also.

This additional gift is another proof of Mr. Ayer's philanthropy and his regard for the city of Lowell.

DOING A GOOD WORK

Rescue League Reports
Are Interesting

At a recent meeting of the Florence Canton Rescue League held at the residence of Mrs. C. A. Scott, reports of the work for the year were given and the report of the treasurer, Helen P. Smith, showed a balance on hand, March 1st, of $1.00. The membership consists of 15. The secretary reported a steady growth of members. Clothing and house furnishings have been supplied by the friends of the home through the agency of the clothing and house committee.

The following are a few extracts from the report of the house manager:

"The work of our home has increased this year and at times the home has been filled to overflowing. It has been necessary to keep some of the girls for longer periods than usual as they were cases that could not be disposed of quickly."

The number of girls and children in the home has ranged from four to nine the past year.

"The number of meals served from March 1, 1911, to March 1, 1912, 6294.

"From March 1, 1912, to March 1, 1913, 8153, an increase of 1959."

NEW EMPLOYEES REACH MILFORD

To Take Strikers' Places in Draper
Company's Works—Ex-Gov.
Visits O'Meara

MILFORD, April 14.—The first group of new men to take the places of the Draper works strikers came this town last night, 39 arriving by trolley from North Andover. They were met by William McElashin, assistant superintendent of the Draper Company's works. McElashin admitted that the men would be put to work in the foundries in Hopdale this morning. He said that most of them came from Maine. They were quartered in an old house recently fitted up by the Draper company as a lodging-house.

Rain prevented a parade the strikers and planned for yesterday, but a mass meeting was held in the afternoon at Charles River Driving Park hall, at which Leader Cobbett, Flavio Abbott and others offered words of encouragement to the strikers.

More than 30 striking foundrymen of the Draper machine shop left Milford yesterday to seek employment in Worcester and in New York state. In all about 100 strikers have departed since the strike went into effect three weeks ago and it is expected that more will go during the week.

At both masses in the Sacred Heart church yesterday morning, Rev. Fr. Petracca spoke warmly in defense of his people. "There will be no bloodshed or disorder until these men get desperate," said he, and he then advised his hearers not to yield to any such temptation.

He went over the Hopdale situation in detail, his remarks being the first public expression of any kind in Milford or Hopdale of sympathy with the efforts of the Milford strikers.

Mr. Cobbett was pleased with the sermon preached by Rev. Fr. Petracca. "It was very gratifying and Christian-like," said the leader.

The usual parade to the Draper works will take place today.

It is said that no general strike is contemplated here now, but merely a demonstration of the unity of the foreign-born factory help here and their sympathy with the strikers.

DRAPER VISITS O'MEARA
Situation in Hopdale is Discussed
With Reference to Presence There
of Boston Police

BOSTON, April 14.—In the pouring rain, Saturday morning, Ex-Governor Draper paid a visit to Police Commissioner Stephen O'Meara at his office in Pemberton square. The ex-governor arrived in his limousine about 11 o'clock and remained with the commissioner for half an hour.

Conditions at Hopdale in relation to the employment of Boston officers during the strike at the Draper plant were talked over, but Commissioner O'Meara said later that there was no discussion as to the recall of the 28 Boston patrolmen and two sergeants who have been on duty in Hopdale for about two weeks.

Ex-Governor Draper said later at his Boston home, 120 Beacon street, that during the visit to Commissioner O'Meara the general situation at Hopdale was discussed with reference to the presence of the Boston policemen there, but that the interview was of no particular moment.

KEEP IT OUT
UNITED EFFORT IN MANCHESTER
N. H.

To Nullify Work of Mormon Missionaries—Club Religion is Growing—Mormons in Lowell Recently

At St. Paul's M. E. church Sunday morning, Rev. Dr. MacPhie, secretary of the Massachusetts Unitarian Society, gave an interesting talk on "The Menace of Mormonism." Dr. MacPhie spoke of the united effort in Manchester, N. H., at the present time to nullify the work of 11 Mormon missionaries who have been circulating their literature and making a personal campaign throughout that section. He said a mass meeting bringing together all of the churches of Manchester, regardless of creed, was to be held in the afternoon and as secretary of the Massachusetts Unitarian Society association he had been invited to participate.

As to the practice of polygamy, the speaker had no doubt, despite stringent laws to the contrary, and in his opinion he referred to the admissions made by President Smith of the Mormon church in a comparatively recent time to the effect that Smith had five wives and 10 children.

Dr. MacPhie gave considerable attention to the financial strength of the church, and the figures which he presented clearly showed that the financial and membership features of the church have developed consistently and that the organization today is equipped to spread its sham religion as it never was before. With trained advocates working throughout the country, passing the message in the most plausible manner designed to catch the unwary, the Mormon church has made alarming strides, and it behooves all other churches to unite, as they are doing in Manchester, that the progress of Mormonism shall not only be checked, but that the church itself shall be put out.

Members of St. Paul's church informed Dr. MacPhie that Mormonism had been in Lowell recently, but that no serious effort was being made to convert them, and that they had gone to Manchester, where their work was attended by more success.

Hawthorne Girls Dance

The Hawthorne Girls, composed of the popular young ladies, held a successful dancing party at the Hotel de Ville, 414 Middlesex street, on Saturday evening, April 12th. The affair was well attended and the girls' dancing was very attractive. The proceeds of the party were for the benefit of the Hawthorne Girls' fund.

The officers in charge of the affair were: Eva Laidlaw, general manager; Bertha Anderson, assistant general manager; Mahelle Livingston, doorkeeper; Marie Erik, assistant doorkeeper; Theresa Brick, secretary; and Katharine Brick, treasurer. The affair was San Rouse, an Horace Livingston, Frank Brick, Wesley Laurin and John Brick.

BUNTING CLUB SOCIAL

Second Smoke Talk a
Big Success

The members of the United States Bunting club, one of the city's most active organizations, held the second in a series of smoke talks in their quarters in South Lowell on Saturday evening, and there were present about three hundred members and guests. Among the principal guests were Mayor James J. Donnelly and Commissioners James E. Donnelly, Andrew E. Barrett and George H. Brown. John W. McElroy, Esq., was one of the speakers.

President Philip McNulty opened the program with an address in which he dwelt upon the work of the club and its plans. The program included piano solos by Joseph Frechette, songs by John Wilby, Fred Sundie, Fred Houth, John V. Myers, William Hallett and James J. Donnelly. An orchestra of 12 pieces under the direction of Robert Shavely rendered selections. There was a concert solo by Fred Harrington, violin solo by Mr. Borjes, trombone solo by John Kinghorn, recitation, "The Old English Soldier," by Andrew E. Barrett, and Irish selections on the saxophone by John McCallan. The mayor was among the principal speakers of the evening.

Commissioner James Donnelly created great amusement by his impersonations of Harry Lauder in Scotch songs. The affair was most successful in every respect and the proceeds will go towards the building fund. A minstrel entertainment will be given at the next smoke talk, which will take place in May.

ENJOYED A BANQUET

Members of Beavers' Social Club of Massachusetts Mills Spent Pleasant Evening at Odd Fellows hall

The members of the Beavers' Social club of the Massachusetts Mills held a banquet and social in Odd Fellows hall Saturday evening. The attendance was large and an enjoyable evening was spent.

The toastmaster was Richard Longdale, president of the club, and seated at his right was Overseer Shipp and Mr. George Booth, the latter overseer of the boarding department. Both of these gentlemen spoke interestingly, approving the idea of a social club. A letter from agent Atchell, expressing his interest in the welfare of the club, was read and well received.

At the close of the feast, which was excellent, a musical program was rendered, those taking part being as follows: George Booth, Robert Hollingsworth, James McGrath, Thomas Booth, James Taylor, John Moller, Bryan Early, Joseph Chateau, Fred McCann and William Gilbride. Step dances were given by Bryan Early and James McGrath. The evening closed with all present singing "Auld Lang Syne."

BILLERICA

Dr. Edward A. Horton, chaplain of the Grand Masonic Lodge of Massachusetts, spoke at the evening services of the Unitarian church last night. The meeting was held under the auspices of the parish club and was well attended. Dr. Horton talked on the relation of the Mason to the church. Mr. Fred Booth of Lowell was the soloist.

The board of selection will hold a meeting tonight in the town hall to transact all unfinished business.

The A. St. John Chamber club will hold a meeting in the parish house of St. Anne's mission tomorrow night at 7:45 o'clock.

At the morning service at St. Anne's mission yesterday the Rev. Samuel H. Johnson preached on the subject, "Charity and Justice."

A meeting of the Women's Mission circle of the North Billerica Baptist church will be held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John E. Rowell, 31 Pleasant street. All ladies having mite boxes are requested to bring them as this will be the semi-annual annual opening of mite boxes.

"AT AN AFTERNOON CALL"

said a popular society woman, "the subject of woman's health was under discussion, and to my amazement three out of four women in the room, who had happened to call at the same time, had found health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Thousands of women in America owe their health and happiness to the marvelous power of this famous medicine, which is made from roots and herbs, nature's remedy for woman's ills.

OBSERVED 45TH ANNIVERSARY

Imposing Ceremony at
St. Joseph's Church—
Brief History

Forty-five years ago yesterday St. Joseph's church in Lee street was opened for service and the first mass was celebrated by the late Rev. Andre M. Garin, O. M. I., and the clergyman of the parish could not let the event go unnoticed, inasmuch as the day also marked the feast of St. Joseph, patron saint of the church. Accordingly appropriate service was held at 10:30 o'clock, when a solemn high mass was celebrated.

The temple was attractively decorated for the occasion, especially the altar, which presented a very fine appearance with its many incandescent lights and potted plants and flowers. The large statue of St. Joseph above the altar was surrounded with numerous electric bulbs, while the sanctuary was decorated with lilies and other flowers.

The congregation was exceptionally large and the service was one of the most impressive ever held in this cozy temple. The celebrant of the mass was the pastor, Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I., who was assisted by Rev. Bro. Joseph Bolduc, O. M. I., as deacon and Rev. Bro. Rosario Jalbert, O. M. I., as sub-deacon, both of the Tewksbury novitiate. The sermon, an eloquent one on the life of St. Joseph was delivered by the rector, Rev. Charles Paquette, O. M. I.

Previous to his sermon the reverend gentleman took occasion to review the growth of the parish during the past 45 years, and also referred to the feast of the day. He said in part: "The feast we are today observing has a particular attraction for us inasmuch as it was on this day forty-five years ago that the Canadians of Lowell were able to meet in a church of their own and there in their own tongue hear the word of God. It was a day of joy and one long to be remembered, and now after 45 years have elapsed, you, the sons, friends and relatives of those who were so devoted to their church, come again to observe the glorious anniversary, and also to honor the memory of the departed." The rector then read the following prayer:

USED COMFORT POWDER FOURTEEN YEARS, FINDS NOTHING BETTER

Mrs. W. G. Conner writes from Asheville, N. C.: "I have used Comfort Powder daily for over 14 years and just cannot do without it. I took six boxes to Panama with me but ran out of it on board ship and the minute I struck New York I sent out for two cans. I can't find any other powder that will half way do it. To bathe and comfort the skin there is nothing like Comfort Powder." Physicians, Trained Nurses and Hospitals everywhere do not hesitate to give Comfort Powder most unqualified endorsement. Be sure you get the genuine with signature of E. S. Sykes on box.

REV. CHARLES PAQUETTE, O. M. I.
Rector of St. Joseph's Parish

ory of this glorious saint, St. Joseph. "If some of you were present at the dedication of the church could speak in my place, imagine with what eloquence you would relate the religious celebrations that have been held in this old temple since it was opened for service. Many of you had the pleasure of receiving your first communion and of being confirmed in this church, and many also were united in the bonds of matrimony. It is also here that many of you have listened to the preaching of the gospel from the lips of the lamented Fr. Garin and other clergymen who have followed his footsteps." The preacher also referred to the building of St. Jean Baptiste church and the burning of this beautiful structure.

The choir under the direction of its new director, Telephore Malo, rendered a special musical program. Mrs. Joseph A. Benard, presiding at the organ. In the afternoon solemn vespers were held and the service was largely attended.

History of Parish

St. Joseph's parish was founded in 1868 when the late Rev. A. M. Garin, O. M. I., and Rev. Fr. Lagier, O. M. I., were sent to this city by the Oblate order to preach the gospel to the French Americans of Lowell. Through the courtesy of the late Rev. John O'Brien, pastor of St. Patrick's church, the lower part of the said church was opened for the French speaking people and the missionaries preached a mission at the close of which Mesdames Joseph Miller and Louis Bergeron, the former mother of Joseph Miller of the Talbot Clothing Co., volunteered to raise funds for the establishment of a parish. At that time there were about 12,000 French people in Lowell. These two devoted women in a short time raised $8,000 and in April of the same year, Messrs. Joseph Miller, Louis Bergeron and Jean Baptiste Allard were appointed a committee by the late Fr. Garin to purchase the Unitarian church in Lee street, at that time occupied by Spiritualists. The building was purchased on Thursday at a cost of $11,500 and the following Sunday, which was the feast of St. Joseph, service was held for the first time. Rev. Fr. Garin officiating at the mass. The vestments used at the first mass were made by Mrs. Miller.

The building which was given the name of St. Joseph's church was 33 feet long by 47 feet wide, and at the altar rail there was room for only four people. In 1873 two small houses in Lee street were bought at a cost of $250 and the temple was made square, that is, 52 feet by 52 feet, with a seating capacity of 1500. Five years later four more houses, two in Lee street and two in Kirk avenue, were purchased and another addition put on. The cost of these buildings was $17,000 and the dimensions of the temple were 150 feet by 52 feet, with a seating capacity of 2000. The total cost of the church was $70,000.

Up to 1877 the priests in charge of the parish made their home at the immaculate Conception rectory, and in that year the property at the corner of Merrimack and Austin streets was purchased from Lawyer Bonney at a cost of $6000 and remodeled into a rectory.

The French population so greatly increased that in 1885 a large strip of land in Merrimack street, adjoining the rectory, was bought from the Tremont & Suffolk Co. at a cost of $28,000, and St. Jean Baptiste church was erected thereon. This fine granite structure was gutted by fire last September.

Among the pastors of St. Joseph's parish were: Rev. Andre M. Garin, O. M. I., Rev. D. N. Forget, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Forget-Despaty, O. M. I., Rev. Gr. Gagnon, O. M. I., Rev. Joseph Lefebvre, O. M. I., Rev. Joseph Campeau, O. M. I., and the present pastor, Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I.

There are now two other French Catholic parishes in Lowell: St. Louis and Notre Dame de Lourdes, and a chapel, St. Mary's, in South Lowell, while the residents of Pawtucketville have petitioned the cardinal for a church in their district.

CHANGE IN THE LAW OF LIBEL

The change in the law of libel recently enacted through the efforts of Senator Fisher and Rep. Butler of this city will benefit every newspaper in the state, to the extent that it reduces the time limit in which a suit for libel can be brought from two years to one.

As a result of the growth of newspapers and the multiplicity of sources from which the "copy" is derived, it is found impossible to trace the authorship of the greater part of the matter even six months after the date of publication. Where news items come from widely different sources to a large newspaper, many libellous articles may appear in its columns without the knowledge of the publishers, but that does not relieve them of the responsibility. If, therefore, a suit for libel were held back for two years after the date of publication without any notice whatever to the publishers, it might happen that the witnesses necessary for the defence were dead or had moved to another state, while the documentary evidence necessary might have been destroyed, so that the paper sued would be entirely helpless and would have to settle the matter in the easiest way possible.

In such cases also the defendant publisher is different from other defendants for he is assumed to be guilty until he establishes his innocence of the charges made by the plaintiff. If the suit be brought soon after the date of publication, he may have the advantage of securing all the evidence available, whereas two years after that date, the chances would be greatly against him.

The first bill introduced by Representative Butler provided for a notice of intention to sue within thirty days of the date on which the alleged libel was published; but this was considered unfair to the party claiming to have been libeled. Nevertheless, we believe, it is still a law that if a person falls upon the street on account of its rough condition he cannot sue unless he gives notice within thirty days after the accident. Before the Workmen's Compensation act went into effect the man injured in a factory could not sue unless he gave notice of suit within thirty days after the occurrence. The same right might be claimed by the newspaper in cases of alleged libel most of which are unintentional and without premeditation.

The change already made, however, will do some good in preventing parties supposed to have been libeled from restricting the freedom of the press by holding a libel suit as a club over a newspaper for the space of two years. Anybody who is actually libeled can decide whether to sue or not to sue within a year and that is long enough to keep a matter of that kind in the air. The time may come when the statutes will make it compulsory upon the plaintiff to give notice of the intention to sue within sixty or ninety days after the publication of the alleged libel.

The next amendment to the law of libel in this state, however, should have a provision to compel parties who bring libel suits to give a bond for payment of the expenses of the defence where the trial shows that there was no case. At the present time suits are brought often without cause by parties whose sole aim is to make trouble for newspapers. There should be some protection against the libel suits entered into on speculation.

FIRES IN THEATRES

The terrible Iroquois fire in Chicago and many more recent examples of similar catastrophes have aroused wide public discussion as to the need for protection against such disasters in public places. All theatres are now compelled by law to conform with many definite regulations as to exits, seating capacity, safety appliances, asbestos curtains, and many other preventive measures. Such regulations are also being more rigidly enforced than formerly. The owners and managers of theatres, however, realize that the greatest danger in the case of a conflagration results from the panic which usually follows, and the mad attempts of the people to rush to safety without calm consideration or order, and many managers throughout the country have taken steps to educate their audiences as to what course they ought to pursue if a fire should break out during a performance. A Lynn theatre has hit upon a novel scheme in this educational campaign and one that might advantageously be generally followed by all the theatres of the country.

In this theatre a short list of pointed instructions dealing with the different phases of the danger of disorder and panic are thrown upon a screen during a lull in the performance. One warns the people not to heed the cry of "fire" or anything that sounds like it if raised by anybody but an employee of the theatre. Another instructs them as to the use of the aisles and exits, and orderly trooping out. A third advocated calmness in a real case of fire and appeals to their reason, advising them to remain in their seats until they count ten, thereby collecting their wits. They are shown that, to rush, simply delays the process of emptying the house orderly, and must result in injury to many. They are also assured that the theatre is as safe as human invention can make it, and that the fire curtain can be lowered in three seconds.

Now, the wisdom of this transaction must be apparent. The history of all great theatre and bazaar fires has shown that most deaths have resulted from the crush that follows a wild stampede, and among the saved are usually those who have refrained from joining in the mad scramble, and discovered some means of escape that was not noticed by the excited mass which surged to the front entrance. While excitable individuals frequent theatres, there will be this danger of a cry of fire, and the necessity for a better education of the public as to the proper procedure in such cases will be always with us. A general adoption of a list of simple and pointed instructions, often reiterated, would tend to wipe out the danger that will always arise from panic and confusion. It does not need much reflection to see that in this instance the proverb of the ounce of prevention being worth a pound of cure has a most appropriate illustration.

PRES. MELLON AND HIS CRITICS

There has seldom been a more striking example of the ruinous effect of unjust and adverse criticism than is seen in the sudden fall in the market price of Boston and Maine stock as a result of the crusade waged by professional politicians, legal and journalistic railroad baiters and the dupes misled by false charges ingeniously devised to deceive the general public.

For some weeks past there has been a lull in the campaign of lies and vituperation by which President Mellon was assailed, his policies misrepresented and placed under suspicion. The action of the Boston Chamber of Commerce has had a salutary effect in reassuring the public and in restoring confidence in Mr. Mellon's honesty of purpose and his progressive policy of expansion for the benefit of New England.

It has finally dawned upon the intelligent people of New England that the Boston and Maine and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads are New England industries upon whose progress, development and success, depends very largely the prosperity of other New England industries for which an efficient freight service at moderate rates is indispensable.

There is a change of public sentiment also in regard to railroad mergers. The old idea that it is best for the public to maintain railroad competition has been exploded as impracticable at least in large systems. We cannot have parallel or competing lines running to Canada or from east to west despite the fact that any policy of merger or consolidation that would destroy competition is in direct violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. But this law will have to be changed so as to permit any merger, however great, under strict government regulation.

The merger that unites a number of railroads in a single system, eliminates unnecessary expense, and enables the road to undertake improvements that would otherwise be impossible. This is the policy advocated by President Mellon and the time is not far distant when it must be adopted by the government of this nation as that best calculated to promote efficiency and the rapid development demanded by the progress of our industries. The government has before it two alternatives in this railroad controversy. One is free consolidation under strict government regulation to protect the interests of the people; the other government ownership and operation of all the interstate railroads of the country, a policy that is favored by no class except the socialists.

FINE STROKE OF POLICY

Out of no other stroke of wise policy has the democratic administration at Washington received so much credit throughout the country as upon its attitude upon the Chinese loan. The new regime has repudiated the dollar diplomacy of the Taft administration under which in this particular case Uncle Sam would be made the collecting agent for the capitalists who would join in the six power loan to China. President Wilson and his secretary of state have earned not only the gratitude of this nation but also that of China in refusing to make our government a party to forcing a hard financial bargain with the infant Chinese republic before its existence has been officially recognized. President Wilson will evidently refuse to be a party to any crooked scheme no matter by whom it may be fostered. Mr. Bryan has the satisfaction of knowing that China will not be crucified upon a cross of gold.

Seen and Heard

"Who is the lady who just stepped out of the car?" inquired the young man. "I don't know," replied the conductor. "Funny she should ride on your car if she doesn't know you," said the young man, suppressing a smile.

"Indeed, I don't know half the women who ride on this car," said the conductor. And this happened in Lowell, too.

Cosmos Hamilton, the young English writer, was talking in New York about eugenics. "The eugenists," he said, "is no foe to properly regulated divorce. Some eugenists even think that the reasons for divorce need not be given."

"Such eugenists are like the old Roman who invented the phrase, 'Where the shoe pinches,'" said the young Englishman. "This old Roman was reproached by his wife for divorcing his wife. They could see no fault in her," he said. They asked hotly what he wanted to go and divorce her for."

"The old Roman, by way of answer, smiled and took out his shoe," he said. "Look at that," he said, holding it up and turning it about. "It seems a good shoe, doesn't it? You can't find anything wrong with it, can you?" And yet—

"The old Roman here frowned impressively. "And yet," he said, "none of you can tell where it pinches me!"

Vincent Astor, at a luncheon in New York, was congratulated upon the model farm of 500 acres that he is establishing on his Rhinecliff estate. "I am going to devote myself to the development of New York agriculture," Mr. Astor said. "But, of course, at the present time I am ignorant of farming as the longshoreman was of seamanship."

A longshoreman, you know, borrowed an able seaman's discharge papers during a strike, and enlisted on a full-rigged ship. "On his first watch on deck, the order rang out, 'Haul in the jib' and the longshoreman in his ignorance tore aft like the wind. "Aft the wheel he ran foul of the captain, who roared: "Didn't you hear the order? You don't expect to find the jibboom jutting out from the stern, do you?"

"The longshoreman pulled his forelock, he had even told shellbacks down. "How was I to know?" he said. "Different ships, different customs."

KINDNESS
When your skin is as blue as a mid-summer day.
And you're far on the road to success.
When you haven't a care as you go on.
It is easy enough to be kind and to be gay.
To the brother who's deep in distress.
It is easy enough to be helpful to men.
When you have good fortune to share.
But the real man you'll find
Always thinks to be kind
And goes out of his way to assist others, when
He, too, has a burden of care.

When you've money and comfort and all that you need.
And you're almost in reach of your goal.
A cry for assistance it's easy to heed.
To pause on your way for the word or the deed.
That may strengthen a poor brother's day.
But greater is he, in the heat of the day,
Who never forgets to be kind.
Although he is hard pressed;
And that he may answer a call by the way.
Is willing to linger behind.

For kindness is not in the size of the gift.
And isn't the flower of success;
The humblest of us has the power to shift.
The weight of a burden and offer a lift.
To others whose fortunes are less.
And though rough and rugged today
We haven't the right to be blind.
To others in a similar hour.
We are failures indeed,
If we come to the end of our journey
And say:
We didn't have time to be kind.

—Edgar A. Guest.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House

Edgar Selwyn's four act comedy success, "The Country Boy," presented by the Henry H. Harris Estate, is to be the attraction at the Opera House, Friday, April 12.

The story of "The Country Boy" tells of a year or so in the life of Tom Wilson, an irresponsible country boy, with a boy's ideas. So sure of himself is he, he laughingly seizes the opportunities offered him in his home town and in New York. He shows all of them what a man can do in a large city. In a very short time, he learns something of real life. He makes a study of a studious hours girl, Amy Leroy. He takes her about at her own sweet will, neglects his work and generally plays the silly goat. His sweetheart's father learns of his conduct and breaks off the life-long love affair.

In the third act, there enters strongly into the play, the character of Merkle, the newspaper man. By a most ingenious ruse, he prevents the kid from carrying out his intentions of suicide. They agree to go to Fairview, the boy's home town, and with Joe Weinstein, a ticket speculator and all round New York youth, start a newspaper at this atmosphere, the country boy finally finds that which he sought in New York, the chance to make good, which he eventually does.

Messrs. Verha and Luescher have definitely decided to send their latest big musical success, "The Rose Maid" to this city on Saturday, April 13, when Lowell people will have the opportunity of seeing this delightful opera. Which ran for two years on Broadway, New York City and which will play an all winter engagement at the Colonial Theatre in Chicago. This will undoubtedly be one of the chief events of the theatrical season. The opera is said to be one of the most pretentious of all the splendid Verha and Luescher musical successes and is now at the height of its popularity. "The Rose Maid" has duplicated the vogue of its sister Viennese opera, "The Spring Night" and with good reason. It is even a more elaborate production, requiring 60 foot baggage cars to carry its scenery and properties. It accommodates the entire company with its numerous chorus, ballet and orchestra. A special train is required for every railroad movement.

The fact that "The Thief," Henri Bernstein's three act drama, which is to be given this week at the Playhouse by the Drama Players and under the personal assistance of Kennel, was one of Henri Bernstein's greatest successes, should assure every playgoer that the piece is well worth while. Bernstein's successes have been numerous and all have been the kind that pleased with his brilliant Mann and supported by a capable cast, there is every reason to expect that "The Thief" will rank with the successful record set work by "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." The first performance of "The Thief" will be given tonight and then twice daily for the remainder of the week. Phone 511.

Kelch's Theatre
The Five Armies, presenting the splendid musical act, "A Night in Venice," will give the big bill at the Kelch Theatre this week. The five players and musicians—three men and two women—will play the boat songs and the ballads of Venice, and dance and sing to the part of the world will be shown. The scenic investiture of the set is particularly charming. Low Lowell people will have the opportunity of seeing this delightful opera. Which ran for two years on Broadway, New York City and which will play an all winter engagement at the Colonial Theatre in Chicago. This will undoubtedly be one of the chief events of the theatrical season. The opera is said to be one of the most pretentious of all the splendid Verha and Luescher musical successes and is now at the height of its popularity. "The Rose Maid" has duplicated the vogue of its sister Viennese opera, "The Spring Night" and with good reason. It is even a more elaborate production, requiring 60 foot baggage cars to carry its scenery and properties. It accommodates the entire company with its numerous chorus, ballet and orchestra. A special train is required for every railroad movement.

CUPID TRICKS PRETTY HEIRESS HER "IDEAL" GOES TO SMASH

NEW YORK, April 14.—Just about a year ago pretty Miss Lilla Gilbert, one of the richest of society buds, decided that her ideal husband must have certain qualifications. Being heiress to $15,000,000, it was expected that she would naturally get what she wanted.

But shortly after she had decided upon what kind of a man she wished Cupid to throw her way she met Howard Price Benshaw, also wealthy and in her set, at Palm Beach. Now, the young man didn't fulfill her ideal at all, but you know ideals have a way of taking a back seat when Cupid shoots his arrows. In consequence the couple obtained a license to marry on April 15. This was her ideal man: Six feet tall; brunette, clean shaven, firm jaw; thick hair curled over left ear, Episcopalian and a money maker; straight nose; large and intelligent, but not soulful eyes; good rider; fond of athletics, fond of animals, holding decided ideas about pigs and poultry; must like lemon in his tea and wear his clothes like John Drew. This is the man she decided to wed: Six feet tall, slightly stooped; reddish hair and mustache; firm jaw; hair cut short, not a curl in it; ears close to head; a democrat, Episcopalian, and never earned a dollar in his life; aquiline nose; brown eyes, not large, but keen and twinkling; good rider; ardent hunter; fond of horses and dogs; absolutely destitute of ideas about pigs and poultry; doesn't drink tea nor admire John Drew's clothes.

By into the play, the character of Merkle, the newspaper man. By a most ingenious ruse, he prevents the kid from carrying out his intentions of suicide. They agree to go to Fairview, the boy's home town, and with Joe Weinstein, a ticket speculator and all round New York youth, start a newspaper at this atmosphere, the country boy finally finds that which he sought in New York, the chance to make good, which he eventually does.

ANNUAL REPORT OF DAY NURSERY

Officers Elected—Attendance in 1912 the Largest Yet

DR. MOSES M. G. PARKER

The annual meeting of the Lowell Day Nursery association was held Saturday afternoon at the nursery rooms, 61-65 Kirk street, and the following officers were elected:

President, Dr. Moses M. G. Parker; Treasurer, James Gilbert Hill; Clerk, Mrs. C. M. Williams. The following directors, whose terms expired yesterday, were re-elected for three year terms: Mrs. Julian Talbot, Mrs. J. E. MacBryne, Mrs. S. W. Peabody, Mrs. W. P. Lawler.

The full list includes: Mrs. L. T. Brown, Mrs. N. P. H. Robbins, Mrs. J. L. Chalfoux, Mrs. Mary A. Punkett, Mr. Paul Butler, Mrs. C. M. Williams, Mrs. Sarah Dempsey, Mrs. A. D. Prince, Miss Harriet Colburn and Mr. D. P. Carroll.

The annual report of the officers was submitted as follows: The attendance for the year just completed in the history of the association. The total for the year is as follows: First street day nursery, 5833; Kirk street day nursery, 10,515; total, 16,348.

This represents at the Kirk street nursery 131 children cared for during the year. Some of these children brought by the mothers for the first time as infants have passed the greater part of their lives in the nursery. One child has been left in charge of the Kirk street day nursery year after year, almost every working day for six years.

At the First street nursery 151 children have been cared for making a total of 332 for the two houses. On one occasion the attendance was reduced to three at the First street house by reason of the strike in the mills, and to nine at Kirk street. On another occasion it rose to the unprecedented number of 51 at Kirk street. The largest attendance on any one day at Kirk street was 51.

There have been cared for in the temporary home for a period of time varying from several hours to eleven weeks, 26 children; and in three instances the mothers have been given a shelter with their infants. One of the children was brought from the Women's Christian Temperance union where it had been abandoned. This child, a fine boy, was placed in a good home a few days later.

There are six children at present in the temporary home. Of these four are provided for by their father, the mother being dead, and two by their mothers who are widows.

Eleven nationalities are represented in both nurseries, American, Armenian, Belgian, English, Greek, French, Irish, Italian, Polish, Russian and Swedish.

The terms of the request from which a large part of our income is derived require that there shall be no outstanding bills at the close of the year, so we have been obliged to defer the necessary repairs for lack of funds.

A few hundred dollars, judiciously expended, would put the First street house into comparatively good order and it is hoped that some way may be found to obtain that very desirable end.

The directors wish to express their grateful appreciation to all who have

To Dr. Boyden H. Pillsbury and Dr. Lathrop, to whose unceasing care and supervision is due in a great measure the healthful condition of the nurseries, to Dr. Jewett, who willingly responded to a call to a First street house, to Dr. Boyle and Dr. Plunkett, whose services are at the command of the nurseries whenever called for by the matrons, to the matrons of both houses for the faithful discharge of their exacting duties, the many contributors whose timely gifts have been of so much assistance.

Japanese Cotton Party

A Japanese cotton party was held in the town hall, North Chelmsford Friday night under the auspices of the Senior Girls club. About fifty couples were present.

During the evening a banquet was tendered to the chaperon of the club, Mrs. Small.

The matrons were Mrs. Frank Maloney, Mrs. Patrick Ward, Mrs. M. Wright and Mrs. De La Haye.

The party broke up at a late hour, all having spent a pleasant evening. The officers of the club are President, Miss Jennie Callahan; vice president, Miss Durant; secretary, Miss De La Haye; treasurer, Miss Jones.

The music was furnished by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra. The Japanese opera, "The Emperor's Daughter," will be repeated Wednesday evening, April 16.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The meeting of Waverly lodge, Sons of St. George was held Saturday in Odd Fellows Bldg. with good attendance and important routine matters were acted upon. One membership application was referred to the investigating committee. The report of the committee in charge of St. George's day observance was to the effect that arrangements have been made with authorities of St. Paul's M. E. church to attend the services on Sunday morning, April 20. Rev. Dr. King will preach an appropriate sermon for the occasion. The Princess lodge, Daughters of St. George, is also invited to attend the service. The annual degree class competition is to be held in Boston on Saturday, April 19 and a large number of Lowell members are planning to go down. They will leave North Chelmsford square at 7:30 a. m. on the Lexington line and the competition will start at half past nine in Lawrence encampment hall, 724 Washington street.

CYCLONES AND FLOODS

Is There a God Who Cares What Happens?

TEMPER OF MANY IS TO SAY "NO"

But the God of the Universe Does Care—Sermon on Disasters by Rev. C. A. Lincoln

"Great Disasters and the Questions They Raise," was the subject of an interesting sermon by Rev. C. A. Lincoln at Kirk Street church Sunday morning. The offering of the day at this church was devoted to the relief fund for the flood sufferers. Mr. Lincoln said in part:

"There is no pleasure without the possibility of disaster; and the lives

REV. C. ARTHUR LINCOLN
Pastor of Kirk Street Church

of men and women set before us in the Bible are filled with the adversity and the prosperity of ordinary men and women who passed through the perils and the pleasures of life, just as you and I endure them.

"This which we see in the Bible, we read also in history; a world full of prosperity, full of adversity. Napoleon, at the very height of his glory, is suddenly cast down and dies in neglect and disgrace. In our own country, a man is born of lowly parentage, becomes president of the United States and the greatest man that the country has produced for the time being. Then, in the prime of his glory, he is murdered by a man who claims to think he is doing the country a great favor.

"How about the mighty cyclone, that scatters whole villages and stacks up whole cities in heaps of ruins? How about the mighty flood, leaving everywhere distress and ruin? In the minds of men who thus suffer there arise certain questions concerning the God who rules the universe. Is there a God who cares? The temper of many people is to say no. If your home were suddenly destroyed by some accident not at all the result of your own carelessness, and your own family scattered, torn by the awful, cruel forces that God himself has created, you might well ask, 'Is there any God who cares?' I could not answer that question fully, perhaps, to the man who is in the hour of distress. But there are certain considerations that relieve the question of the sting of it. It is true that all pain, all suffering, has a purpose, then I think we may conclude that the God of the universe does care.

"We sometimes feel envious of people who are not responsive to suffering. They are not so quick to become discouraged. They go along in a rather indifferent way through life, and we feel that their lot is somewhat better than ours. I take it that the very sufferings that come to us are for the purpose of bringing us to a higher appreciation of the life of God in the world. What is the greatest hindrance to the triumph of the spirit of God in the world? Is it the liquor traffic—the white slave traffic? Shall we name these great, outstanding evils which everyone recognizes? I think not. The greatest cause of the halting footsteps of the kingdom of God in this world—for the slow coming of the reign of righteousness and peace in the world, is the unresponsiveness of men and women who hear the message. Men do not respond until they feel the pain of the world; until they enter into the deepest sympathy with those who are in pain and suffering.

"There is a cry that comes from the very depths of the human heart; from those suffering on beds of pain in our own community; from the devastated fields of the Balkan states; from the flood districts of the middle west; 'O Lord, how long, how long!'

"If there is a purpose in pain, that it may develop humanity, there must be a culmination of that purpose sometime. We therefore look to the life beyond for a complete understanding of those ills that come to us now."

GOLF BALLS EXPLODE

Two Bad Accidents Within Week

BALLS CONTAIN AN ACID AT THEIR CORES

Legislature Asked to Prohibit Them—Notices Posted at Vesper-Country Club

And now it is the harmless little golf ball that is causing alarm because it has already worked terrible destruction. The particular kind of ball that is dangerous is an imported affair and is filled with an acid that is used for the purpose of giving the ball greater resiliency. None of these golf balls have as yet found their way to the golf links about Lowell, but notices of warning in red ink have been posted at the Vesper-Country club. Copies of the notice were sent out by the executive committee of the United States Golf association to golf clubs all over the country. This notice reads:

"IMPORTANT NOTICE. WARNING!—Owing to the fact that several serious accidents have occurred in the past few years due to cutting open certain makes of golf balls containing acids and other acid-decomposing compounds, the United States Golf association warns all persons to refrain from this dangerous practice."

Executive Committee, U. S. G. A.

Members of the Vesper-Country club asked today if they had ever witnessed an explosion of the acid golf ball and they said they had never seen it. Mr. A. H. Norton said that he had witnessed the explosion of golf balls filled with compressed air, but there was nothing at all dangerous about it.

To Prohibit Sale

Owing to two serious accidents in the past four days, a bill will be introduced in the legislature, today or tomorrow, on recommendation of the state board of health, to prohibit the sale and use of certain imported golf balls which contain an explosive acid that destroys the eyesight and burns anything it touches when it is set off.

The two accidents which have aroused the board of health to take this action are the sequence to a long series of similar accidents in the past few years all over the country.

Several people have lost the use of one or both eyes and have been disfigured in other ways as a result of these golf balls exploding.

The two recent cases were brought to the attention of the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary yesterday. Both victims are young boys who were merely playing with golf balls they had found. One of the boys has lost the sight of his left eye and his face is otherwise disfigured, and the second boy's face was badly burned.

The boy who has lost the sight of his left eye is George Jefferson, 12 years of age, of 14 Coxsack street, West Newton. The other boy is Stuart Friend, 9 years old, of 21 Schenck street, Winchester.

These imported golf balls are filled with either sulphuric or nitric acid at the cores. This gives them more resiliency than other balls, so that they can be driven farther. The greatest danger to be apprehended from these balls is when they are lost and are picked up by boys who play with them, ignorant of the fact that they are really playing with bombs.

For Successor to Weeks

BOSTON, April 14.—The last call for support by the three candidates in the 13th congressional district where a special election will be held tomorrow to fill a vacancy in the Massachusetts delegation, caused by the election of John W. Fire in Steamer Held

BOSTON, April 14.—Fire in hold 2 of the British steamer Karema threatened heavy damage today. The vessel arrived Saturday from Calcutta and Colombo with a cargo of burlap, jute and hides valued at $100,000. The blaze was discovered Friday, one hundred miles out but was not reported to the harbor authorities until today. The steamer was taken from her pier to an anchorage and steam forced into the hold.

Cabarets Without Drinks

NEW YORK, April 14.—Mayor Gaynor's interpretation of the liquor laws was contradicted today by the court of special sessions which decided that restaurant keepers may stage cabaret shows after 1 a. m. provided no drinks are sold after that hour. Representatives of the restaurant men's association said that the decision would defeat the mayor's early closing rule.

State Rate Cases

WASHINGTON, April 14.—No decisions in the state rate cases, newspaper publicity law, intermountain rate cases or other important suits pending before the supreme court were announced today.

STRIKERS INTIMIDATED

500 Operatives Wanted to Return to Work

AUBURN, N. Y., April 14.—Intimidation by a hundred strikers of the International Harvester Co. twine mill caused four or five hundred operatives who were desirous of returning to work to go away from the mill this morning when the whistle blew for the first time since the strike began. After 650 employees had passed through the lines of militia and police and entered the mill a conference was held by the officials of the company at the conclusion of which the order was issued to close the mill permanently and to hold the machinists to dismantle the machinery and pack it for shipment to Keuss, Germany.

The strikers, evidently regarding the company's threat to move away as a bluff, continued to jeer and marched away when the militia announced that the mill was closed.

A mass meeting of citizens has been called for tonight. Several strikes are imminent in other industries. The International Harvester mill paid $265,000 annually in wages.

THREE SHOTS FIRED AT KING

Alphonso Had a Narrow Escape
From Death—Own Quickness
Saved His Life

MADRID, April 14.—For the third time in his reign King Alfonso narrowly escaped death yesterday, being the victim of an anarchist attempt against his life. Three shots were fired at the king yesterday afternoon in the streets of the capital by a native of Barcelona, Rafael Sanchez Allegro, who was immediately overpowered.

King Alfonso owed his life to his own courage, quickness and skilled horsemanship. Accompanied by his staff, he was riding along the Calle de Alcalá on the way back from the ceremony of swearing in the recruits, when a man sprang from the sidewalk and seized the hand of the king's horse with one hand, presenting a revolver point blank with the other.

The king took in the situation at a glance. With lightning rapidity he dug his spurs into his horse, which reared violently. His quickness saved his life. The bullet, instead of burying itself in the king's breast, struck the horse on the neck, but so close was it that the king's left hand glove was blackened by the powder discharge.

Seized by King's Guards

Before the assailant was able to pull the trigger again a secret service man sprang upon him. The two men fell to the ground locked in each other's arms, struggling furiously. The would-be assassin managed to free his revolver, and fired two more shots in rapid succession, but the officer knocked his arm aside and the bullets flew harmlessly into the air.

At the sound of the first shot the king's staff forced the horses on the sidewalk and made a ring about the assassin, who fought long and fiercely in the grip of four policemen before he was overpowered and handcuffed.

King Alfonso, as soon as he saw that the man had been secured, raised himself in the stirrups, turned to the crowd, gave a military salute and shouted in ringing voice:

"Long live Spain!"

He then dismounted and reassured his staff, saying: "It is nothing, gentlemen."

Slighter Cheer for Monarch

Then uprose a mighty roar from the wildly enthusiastic masses, which rolled along in great waves of sound all the way as the king rode to the palace, cool, collected and smiling.

A spectator, a pensioned halberdier, pushed forward so impudently to offer his congratulations to the monarch that he was mistaken for another assassin and arrested. He was released, however, as soon as the mistake was learned.

A young Frenchman, who was standing beside Allegro, was also arrested, but it does not appear that he was in any way connected with him.

The crowds made a determined attempt to lynch Allegro, who was hurriedly taken into a house and kept there until an auto-ambulance, escorted by mounted police, transferred him to police headquarters.

King Alfonso was first to tell of "what he lightly called 'the incident which caused delay.'" to Queen Victoria and the dowager queen, Maria Christina, at the palace, who were greatly alarmed.

Recently Expelled From France

The king smilingly allayed their fears. He had hardly been back ten minutes when an immense clamor arose. The two squares overlooked by the palace were black with people, of all classes, desirous of showing their joy at the king's safety and their admiration for his display of bravery. The king went to the balcony and acknowledged the cheers and then sought the queen, and the two stood bowing to the throngs for several minutes.

The police investigations have established that Allegro was recently expelled from France as an anarchist, after which he went to Barcelona. He came to Madrid a month ago and obtained employment in a carpenter shop. He worked there until Friday, on which day he was paid off.

Woman Under Arrest, Too
It is said that during the course of his first examination Allegro declared that on seeing the king pass he was seized with a sudden evil impulse, and having a revolver in his pocket drew it out, driven on by an irresistible force to spring forward and fired.

A woman, said to be associated with Allegro, was placed under arrest last night.

A curious coincidence is found in the fact that the Spanish premier, Count Romanones, Saturday night declared to be absolutely without foundation alarming rumors which had been circulated in Madrid regarding the possibility of an attempt against the king yesterday on the occasion of the swearing in of the recruits and relative to the presence in Madrid of several dangerous anarchists.

KING ALFONSO TOOK EARLY RIDE IN PARK THIS MORNING—HEARTILY SALUTED

MADRID, April 14.—King Alfonso of Spain took an early ride in the park this morning and was heartily saluted by crowds of people who had gathered to cheer him. Joy reigned everywhere, that the king had escaped the bullets fired by the would-be regicide, Rafael Sanchez Allegro, while his majesty was returning from a review of troops yesterday. Allegro was in a merry mood during the examination, his salutes causing the guards surrounding him and the interrogating magistrates to smile.

Inquiries made by the police in Barcelona show that Allegro was rejected from the Spanish military service owing to his suffering from nervous attacks. He had been frequently without employment. He is married to a woman of honorable family.

fore evident that direct inquiries concerning tariff information addressed to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce should be preferred by American exporters on account of promptness of service as well as accuracy of information.

The tariff work of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce is not rigidly restricted to customs duties and customs regulations. The division of foreign tariffs of the bureau gives attention also to closely allied subjects affecting our foreign commerce, such as the financial revenue laws of foreign countries, the regulations for commercial travelers soliciting business abroad, and the requirements of foreign countries for consular invoices, merchandise marks, standards of purity, and the like. The United States diplomatic and consular officers report on these subjects and translators and other assistants in the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce examine carefully the official publications of the foreign governments in order that all information regarding foreign tariffs and these allied subjects may be kept up to date.

The answering of specific inquiries concerning customs rates and regulations has come to be an important part of the tariff work of the bureau. The information desired is so varied in character that special statements continually have to be compiled. To facilitate the compilation of such statements and to insure accuracy, inquiries should be made in a precise and detailed both as to the nature of the article and the particular countries in which the inquiry may be immediately interested. In foreign countries many articles are subject to customs duty merely on the basis of the component material, and the inquirer should always mention the component material as well as the nature and use of his products. When such detailed description is given, the bureau is the more readily enabled to indicate the foreign rates of duty.

The more substantial and better known side of the tariff work of the bureau is of course that of publication. For a number of the more important commercial countries the complete customs tariffs have been published, such as Tariff Series No. 25 (Customs Tariff of France), Tariff Series No. 7 (Customs Tariff of the German Customs Union), Tariff Series No. 27 (Customs Tariff of Cuba), and Tariff Series No. 28 (Customs Tariff of Japan). Another line of work for publication has been the compilation of statements of duties on particular classes of articles, either for a selected list of foreign countries, or for all foreign countries. The most recent example is the brief compilation entitled "Duties on Paints and Varnishes in Latin America," which was published in Foreign Tariff Notes No. 5, page 24-27. These are now in course of publication publications of this nature showing the rates of duty on textiles, specialties and toyewriter supplies, and automobiles and motor trucks in certain foreign countries. The bureau publishes promptly in Daily Consular and Trade Reports, under the caption of "Foreign Tariffs," notice of all quantitative changes and proposed changes in the tariff and allied legislation of foreign countries; and quarterly the matter thus published is assembled and reprinted in pamphlet form as "Foreign Tariff Notes."

Inquiries concerning any of the tariff work indicated above may be addressed to the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C.

Your Pocket Knife is the Key to a Better Smoke

Cut each pipe-load fresh from a good plug just before you smoke and you'll be repaid by a sweeter, slower-burning, cooler smoke than you ever got from a bag or tin of tobacco, no matter how much you paid.

Real Tobacco flavor depends on the moisture in the leaf. The only way to keep all the moisture in tobacco, from factory to pipe, is to press the choicest leaves into a plug and protect it with a natural leaf wrapper.

Tin cans cannot retain all the moisture and flavor in sliced or granulated tobaccos as it is bound to dry out. Dry tobacco smokes fast and hot and burns your tongue.

When you once smoke Master Workman Plug Tobacco and find how evenly and slowly it smokes and learn how good real tobacco flavor tastes, you will always cut your own tobacco fresh from the plug. Buy a plug of Master Workman today and try it for your next smoke.

STARTED FIRE ON TRACKS
I. W. W. Members Held Up Train

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., April 14.—Commander of Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific freight train that left Pueblo last night 12 industrial workers of the World recently ordered out of Grand Junction, Colorado, obtained transportation to this city, where they were met early today by the entire police force. They were marched to the police station for the night, and after being supplied with breakfast today they will be escorted from the city by municipal authorities. Several freight trains passed the band along the right of way, having received orders not to allow them to board any train. By building a fire on the track they brought a train to a standstill with the improvised danger signal and boarded it despite the warnings and threats of the train crew.
At Pueblo a squad of police, armed with rifles, last night started to drive out of town the band of "Industrial Workers of the World" who returned after being carried out of Pueblo on flat cars earlier in the day.
Before the detachment of police caught up with the band it flagged a Rock Island freight train and escaped.

THE NEW TARIFF BILL
Democrats Begin Second Week of Consideration

WASHINGTON, April 14.—With Chairman Underwood and other administration leaders still in control of the house, democrats today began the second week of consideration of the new tariff bill in caucus. Having withstood the test of vigorous opposition to the sugar schedule Saturday, the prospect was today that no material changes proposed to the bill would get enough support to be effective. Consideration of the question probably will not be reached for several days.

NOTRE DAME SISTER
Buried This Morning With Impressive Services
The funeral of Sister Mary Evangelista, of the Notre Dame nuns, took place this morning from the Notre Dame convent. The services in St. Patrick's church were most impressive and attended by the students of the Notre Dame academy and the pupils of the girls' school of St. Patrick's, by all of whom the late sister was greatly beloved.
At half past eight o'clock the funeral procession left the convent and proceeded to St. Patrick's church, where Rev. P. J. Casey, S. J., met it at the door. Father Casey, assisted by Rev. Mr. William O'Brien, Rev. Joseph A. Curtin and Rev. Timothy Cahaban, read the prayers over the body and after the services at the entrance to the church, the procession moved up the center aisle of the church. A solemn high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Father Casey, S. J., with Rev. Father Callahan as deacon and Rev. Father Curtin as sub-deacon. The church choir sang the Gregorian chant.
After the mass the funeral procession went to St. Patrick's cemetery where interment was made in the Sisters' lot. The burial service at the grave was read by Rev. Father Casey, assisted by Rev. Father Curtin. Rev. P. J. Casey, Dr. M. P. Mahoney, Dr. P. J. Mehan and Dr. F. A. O'Sullivan. In addition to the children of the convent and the nuns, there were present many friends of Sister Evangelista from Lawrence and Salem as well as a large congregation from Lowell and the funeral was in charge of Undertaker Charles H. Molloy.

LOW WAGES RESPONSIBLE
Drive Many Girls to Shame, Says Speakers
PHILADELPHIA, April 14.—Widely different views regarding the relation of low wages to vice were expressed here yesterday by prominent speakers. Dean Walter T. Sumner of the cathedral of Saints Peter and Paul, Chicago, in an address to students of the university of Pennsylvania, declared that low wages drive many girls into shame.
"It is no wonder," he said, "that an underpaid girl falls into evil which enables her to live. Everywhere the working girl is met by the same prospect. Huddled among coarse and vulgar male companions, lonely, underfed and hungry for companionship and

Alexandre Paquette Missing From
Home—Arm Cut Off in Accident—Suits Pending

Alexandre Paquette, aged 16 years, son of Mr. Isidore Paquette of 302 West Sixth street, has been missing from home for the past month and thereby hangs a tale which is somewhat difficult to solve. Several institutions of education in New England have already been searched for the missing boy and considerable fruitless efforts on the part of private detectives have been made to locate the boy. The father of the missing boy says that his attorney, a German lawyer in Poughkeepsie, has offered a reward of $300 for his recovery, for it is believed the young fellow was either kidnapped or induced to get out of the way, inasmuch as there is a $20,000 suit pending against a railroad company on account of an accident to the boy.

Alexandre Paquette left home on June 1, 1912, and all efforts to locate him were fruitless. Some time in October the father received word that his son had been injured on the railroad in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He went to the latter place and there found his boy in a hospital with the left arm and three toes of the left foot amputated. The little fellow told his father that he was employed by a farmer in a little town near Poughkeepsie and inasmuch as his employer broke his engagement with him, he left his work and went to the railroad station. He said he was acquainted with a brakeman who allowed him to ride blind baggage. He was seated on a flat car, when the train turned a curve, and the sudden jolt sent him rolling to the tracks, where his left arm and three toes of his left foot were crushed.

The father through a German lawyer of Poughkeepsie brought suit against the railroad company for $20,000, and against the farmer who employed the boy for $10,000, both writs returnable last November.

A short time later the boy returned to his father's home, 302 West Sixth street, this city, and remained there up to a short time before the law suits were to be called. On Monday, Nov. 15, two unknown men called at the Paquette residence and spoke with Alexandre, making an engagement with the boy to meet them at Merrimack square at 9.15 a. m. the following Wednesday.

The boy told his father of the engagement, but did not refer to the nature of the meeting. He left home at 5 o'clock that morning and has not returned since. A few days later the Poughkeepsie lawyer was notified of the boy's disappearance and he immediately came to Lowell, meeting Mr. Paquette at a downtown hotel. According to the father, the lawyer feared that the boy had been kidnapped or induced for probably a small sum of money to keep out of the way on account of the suits pending. Detectives were put on the boy's trail, but their efforts to locate him have been fruitless. Institutions of education were searched and again without any avail. The boy is in hiding somewhere according to his father's view of the case, and may never return.

When he left home he wore a blue coat with white pencil stripes, knee pants of the same fabric, and a gray cap and black shoes. His left arm is amputated above the elbow, and the boy has a large scar on the forehead. He is sixteen years of age and well built for his age.

"The water department is running full blast." This was Commissioner Barrett's reply to The Sun reporter's question relative to affairs in that department.

Mr. Barrett said he had not received any complaints of late relative to the condition of the water and he allowed that the quality of the water was very good. Supt. Thomas was present and he said that the reservoirs are full at the present time, that the two wells are giving satisfaction and that the average daily pumpage is about five and one-half million gallons.

Precision Street Connection

"The water department asked permission from the legislature some time ago for authority to connect the dead ends in Princeton street with Middlesex street in order to establish a circulation there. Because of the fact that the change would carry the operation into Chalmers street it was necessary to have the sanction of the legislature. Mr. Barrett said today he understood that the bill had been passed but he has not received any official notification to that effect. "Just as soon as I learn that the bill has passed," said Mr. Barrett, "the water department will do the work. The change which will include the opening up of the dead ends will give new circulation there and will improve the quality of the water in that vicinity. It will also increase and improve fire protection at the plant of the Patterson Rubber Co."

New Supply Main

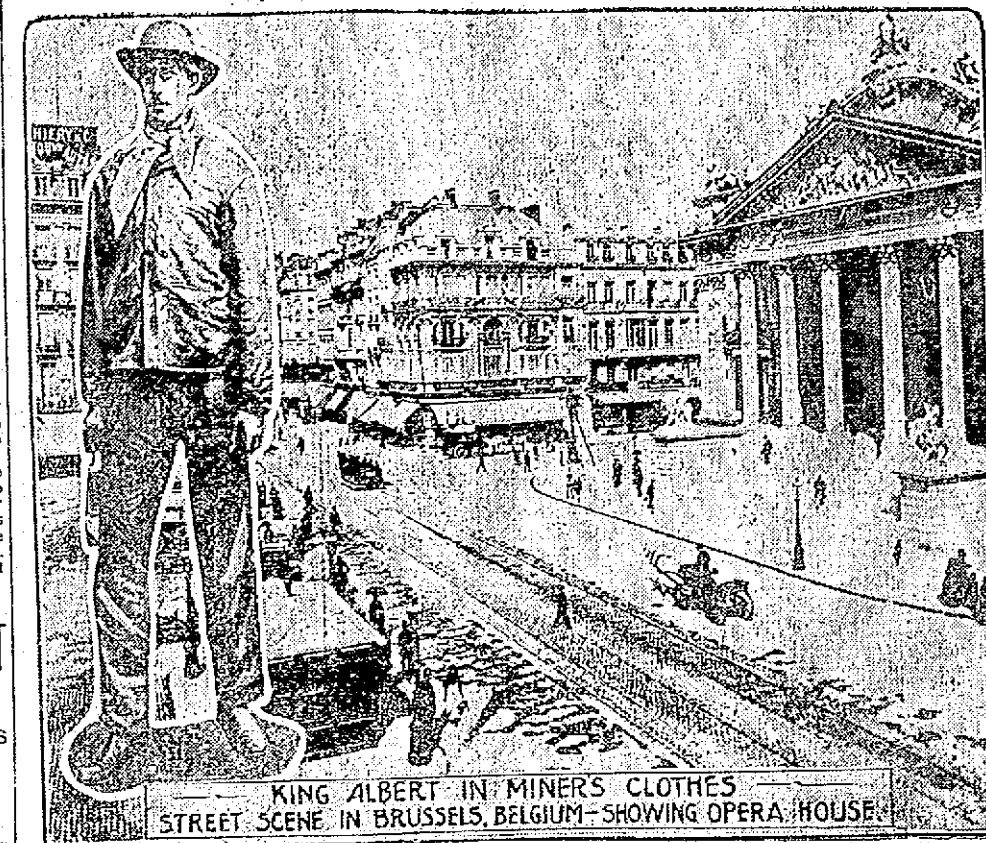

Foreman Michael Harrington has a gang of men in Broadway working westerly in School street on the new supply main for the Highlands. This is a sixteen-inch main and was begun last year at the gate to the Lowell Machine shop and was carried along to the corner of Fletcher and Dutton streets. Foreman Thomas Sullivan has a gang of men at work on the main through Liberty square and Rock street and another gang is working on another section of the main at Rock and Willie streets. This main will extend to Princeton street, where it will connect with the Cook wells.

Enlarging and Renewing Pipes

The department is taking out a four-inch pipe in Mt. Vernon street and putting an eight-inch pipe in its stead. Butterfield, Cross and Varney streets are being included in these changes and Commissioner Barrett expects that conditions will be very much improved in that section. The new pipe will connect with the 12-inch main in Broadway. Another gang of men under Foreman William Hunt is employed in Centralville while still another gang is taking out a two-inch pipe in Somerset street and replacing it with a six-inch pipe. There have been a number of complaints from this section and it is expected that the putting in of a larger pipe will fix things all right.

GENERAL WALK- OUT IN BELGIUM

Vast Political Strike for Manhood Suffrage Began at Dawn This Morning

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 14.—The vast political strike for manhood suffrage in Belgium prepared with such skill by the socialist workmen's trade unions began at dawn today, when the night shifts came out of many of the mines and mills throughout the country, leaving them empty except for a few caretakers, told off by the socialist leaders to keep the property from deteriorating. At least a quarter of a million men laid down their tools, according to reports given out in representative non-socialist quarters. In many districts there were exceptions to the general walkout and only loose estimates are ventured either by the socialists or by the state ministers as to the number of men affected. The strike is complete in places such as the mining districts. In Brussels itself the strike must be looked for in order to be found. Probably a quarter of the workmen engaged in the suburbs where the manufacturing are located did not go into the shops. The socialist committee sitting at the headquarters of the people's party announced that 20,000 men had struck work in the capital. Report after report from the provinces tell of complete or nearly complete stoppage of work at Liege, Charleroi, Mons, La Louviere and other smaller cities. At Mons alone it is estimated that there are 10,000 strikers and at La Louviere 23,000, most of them belonging to the metal, carriage building and tobacco trades.

STRIKE GENERAL—ATTEMPT MADE TO CUT TELEGRAPH WIRES IN LA LOUVIERE

LA LOUVIERE, Belgium, April 14.—The miners strike here was general this morning, not a man beyond those necessary to keep the machinery in order having gone into the mines. Except for one pottery, all the factories were closed. The street cars were operating as usual during the forenoon but the strike of the motormen and conductors was timed to begin at seven o'clock this evening. Some attempts have been made to cut telegraph wires in the vicinity.

MINERS AND INDUSTRIAL CONCERN WORKERS QUIT AT LIEGE AND SURROUNDING SUBURBS

LIEGE, Belgium, April 14.—Work ceased this morning in the greater number of the industrial concerns here and in the surrounding suburbs of Bressoux, Jupille and Wandre. Of 3500 workmen, 1400 remained at their machines.

In the national arms factory at Holst the strike was complete. All the coal miners at Seraing, Jemeppe, Tilbour, Montegnée, Flemmalle-Haute, Flemmalle-Grande and St. Nicholas have stopped work.

25,000 COAL MINERS IN MONS DISTRICT QUIT THIS MORNING

MONS, Belgium, April 14.—Of the 30,000 coal miners in this district, all have quit their work except 2000, who are keeping the machinery running.

EVERYTHING IS CLOSED AT QUIEVRAIN—MANY LEAVE THE CITY

QUIEVRAIN, Belgium, April 14.—Everything is closed here. Half the workmen have gone over the frontier into France, which is only a short distance away, to find temporary occupation.

POTTERIES IN NEIGHBORHOOD OF GHENT ARE ALL IDLE—WORKERS QUIT

GHENT, Belgium, April 14.—The potteries in this neighborhood are all idle today but in the linen and cotton mills something more than half the hands remained at work, except in two cases, where all quit. The metal workers also all went out, but a few cement workers are reported to have continued work.

A LOSS OF $3,000,000

In Dayton, Ohio, Says Relief Committee

COLUMBUS, O., April 14.—A flood relief committee from Dayton, headed by John H. Patterson called on Gov. Cox today and presented a formal report of the conditions in that city. The report shows that $200,000 will be required to clean the streets of Dayton. This sum does not include the cost of reconstructing public property damaged by the recent flood. Members of the committee estimated the loss of merchandise in their city at $3,000,000. Leaf tobacco valued at $200,000 was destroyed by the flood, they said.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Evelyn Thaw's plea that her husband, Harry K. Thaw, was responsible for the clothing she bought during 1908 was disregarded today by the supreme court and a firm of outfitters was awarded judgment against her for $3746. The itemized account showed that Mrs. Thaw paid from $10 to $55 for her hats and as high as $250 for a dress.

The fact that Mr. F. A. Bowen had been made agent of the Appleton company was published in The Sun in July of last year and a few days after the appointment had been made. Attention is called to the matter at this time because of the fact that news of the appointment appeared in a local paper yesterday as something that had just happened.

LATE J. P. MORGAN BURIED TODAY AT HARTFORD, CONN.

Funeral Services First Held in St.
George's Episcopal Church,
New York

HARTFORD, Conn., April 14.—The body of J. Pierpont Morgan was laid to rest this afternoon in the family lot in Cedar Hill cemetery. The funeral train bearing the body reached Hartford soon after two o'clock when the casket was taken down an outside stairway at the station and placed in the waiting hearse for the three mile drive to the burial grounds.

FUNERAL SERVICES OVER BODY OF J. P. MORGAN AT ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH

NEW YORK, April 14.—Funeral services over the body of J. P. Morgan were held this morning in St. George's Episcopal church, where he had worshipped for half a century. Afterward a special train conveyed the funeral party to Hartford, Conn., for final services at the Morgan mausoleum at Cedar Hill cemetery, blanketed by a covering of red roses, the coffin left the Morgan library, where the body had lain since Friday night, and was conveyed to the church. A vested choir of 25 voices preceded the funeral party into St. George's. Behind the choir came the clergy, then the pallbearers, the coffin and the family. Fifteen hundred persons were crowded into the church. Admission was by card only. So great had been the demand for tickets that many hundreds could not be accommodated. The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Karl Reiland, rector of St. George's, the Right Rev. William Lawrence, bishop of Boston, the Right Rev. Chauncey Brewster, bishop of Connecticut.

The route of the procession led along Asylum street, past the banker's birthplace, which was draped in black, down Main street, where stands the memorial erected by Mr. Morgan to his father, who was born one hundred years ago, and out through Maple avenue to the cemetery. For practically the whole distance the streets were lined with people. The committal service was read by Bishop Chauncey B. Brewster of the Episcopal diocese of Connecticut, attending him being Rev. Carl Reiland of St. George's church, New York, and Bishop William Lawrence of the diocese of Massachusetts. The services were conducted in a large tent which had been erected over the grave and beside the Morgan monument. They followed the Episcopal service strictly. During the passing of the cortege trolley traffic was halted on Asylum street and many of the offices and stores about the city were closed. All of the schools were dismissed at 2 p. m. as a further mark of respect. The state capitol was closed during the afternoon and the flag on the city hall hung at half staff. As the procession passed through the streets the chimera on Christ's church played Mr. Morgan's favorite hymn, "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds."

POPE PIUS GROWING WEAKER

He Took Little Notice of Those
Around Him Today—Passed
Tranquil Night

BULLETINS FROM ROME

ROME, April 14.—9.35 a. m. The bulletin issued by the pope's physicians early today reads: "His Holiness passed a tranquil night. Brouche symptoms are disappearing. His temperature 99. General condition good."

"Marchiafava," "Amici."

ROME, April 14.—In the middle of the day the pope had a short sleep almost uninterrupted by coughing. His temperature was slightly above 98 degrees, his pulse and his respiration 25. His kidneys are functioning well.

ROME, April 14.—The pope's temperature decreased at 1 o'clock today to 98 degrees, and when that is reached there is no more danger of an attack of pneumonia.

ROME, April 14.—While the bulletin issued by the pope's physicians this morning is optimistic, it leaves many incredulous that the patient really has had a turn for the better. Undoubtedly, however, there was a noticeable amelioration in the pope's condition during the night.

Although the pope rested quietly during the forenoon, the physicians were somewhat concerned about his growing weakness. His heart, however, showed no symptoms of valvular lesion. The pontiff took little notice of those around him. For the most part he remained silent and passive.

Rome is taking the news about the pope's grave illness with outward tranquility based on the widespread conviction that if the end is approaching it will not come for days. Even the streets about the pope's palace are not unusually crowded. Early tourists are allowed in the galleries of the Vatican to the public. Carriages drive up frequently conveying cardinals, ambassadors and high prelates to inquire about the pope's condition and to read the latest bulletins and if possible to speak with one or other of the doctors.

The pope's physicians seek by every means to evade would-be interviewers, and when that is impossible they are utterly non-committal.

Prof. Marchiafava when questioned as to whether the bulletins issued from the Vatican reached the public just as they left his hands merely smiled. The journalists interpret that smile each according to his private belief.

HOSPITAL SITE

MAYOR O'DONNELL READY TO NAME A SITE

If the Municipal Council Gives Him Authority But Prefers to Await Action of Legislature

How about a contagious hospital for Lowell?

The question was put to Mayor O'Donnell today and His Honor said that if the municipal council would leave the matter to him he would name a site "right off the reel" so to speak.

McCarty constitute the remnant of the contagious hospital commission, the remaining members having resigned some time ago and the mayor is of the opinion that the commission no longer exists.

The mayor, today, said that with the authority in his hands he would select a site within 24 hours. The site, he said, would be within the city limits, within five minutes' ride in the street cars from the center of the city. The location he has in mind contains over ten acres, is on the crest of a hill where the air is pure and is quite a distance from residences. He said that the site would be as free from criticism as any site that has been offered or proposed and that if the municipal council would give him the authority he would draw an order to be acted on at the next meeting of the council. The mayor called attention to the fact that there is a bill now before the legislature having to do with the maintenance of contagious hospitals and he thought it would be well to postpone action until such time as the legislature acts. The bill provides for the maintenance of such hospitals by the state, the state charging to the different cities, by way of tax bills, their proportionate share of the expense. "I do not think," said the mayor, "that the municipal council should go ahead until the legislature has taken some definite action."

DOING A GOOD WORK

Rescue League Reports
Are Interesting

At a recent meeting of the Florence Crittenton Rescue League held at the residence of Mrs. C. A. Stott, reports of the work for the year were given and the report of the treasurer, Helen Buttrick, showed a balance on hand, March 1st, of 49 cents. The membership committee reported a steady growth of members. Clothing and house furnishings have been supplied by the friends of the home and house committee. The field secretary submitted the following statistical report:

Calls 1167; grants for the Home 50; calls 444; girls helped 145; investigations 224; letters received 60; letters written 127; have taken 31 girls; Boston night and received 219 telephone calls and have spoken at 25 public meetings.

From the illustrations given every one of us must be able to discern the value of our work. Our society is a friend to all who are perplexed or in trouble. We have reason to expect our gratitude to our many friends. We are indebted to the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A., the temporary home, the doctors, lawyers, district nurses, children's homes, police officers, and the Salvation Army. They have all rendered valuable assistance.

The following are a few extracts from the report of the house district:

"The work of our Home has increased this year and at times the house has been filled to overflowing. It has been necessary to keep some of the girls for longer periods than usual as they were cases that could not be disposed of quickly."

"The number of girls and children in the home has ranged from four to nine the past year."

"The number of meals served from March 1, 1911, to March 1, 1912, 6254."

"From March 1, 1912, to March 1, 1913, 5225, an increase of 1571."

NEW EMPLOYEES REACH MILFORD

To Take Strikers' Places in Draper
Company's Works—Ex-Gov.
Visits O'Meara

MILFORD, April 14.—The first group of new men to take the places of the Draper strikers came into town last night, 30 arriving by trolley from North Grafton. They were met by William McLaughlin, assistant superintendent of the Draper Company's works. McLaughlin admitted that the men would be put to work in the foundries in Hopdale this morning. He said that most of them came from Maine. They were quartered in an old house recently fitted up by the Draper company as a lodging-house.

Bain prevented a parade the strikers had planned for yesterday, but a mass meeting was held in the afternoon at Charles River Driving Park hall, at which Leader Caldwell, Flavio Albizzati and others offered words of encouragement to the strikers.

More than 30 striking foundrymen of the Draper machine shops left Milford yesterday to seek employment in Worcester and in New York state. In all about 100 strikers have departed since the strike went into effect three weeks ago and it is expected that more will go during the week.

At both masses in the Sacred Heart church yesterday morning, Rev. Fr. Palanca spoke warmly in defense of his people. "There will be no bloodshed or disorder until these men get desperate," said he, and he then advised his hearers not to yield to any such temptation.

He went over the Hopdale situation in detail, his remarks being the first public expression from any pulpit in Milford or Hopdale of sympathy with the efforts of the Milford strikers.

Mr. Caldwell was pleased with the sermon preached by Rev. Fr. Palanca. "It was very gratifying and Christianlike," said the leader.

The usual parade to the Draper works will take place today.

It is said that no general strike is contemplated here now, but merely a demonstration of the unity of the foreign-born factory help here and their sympathy with the strikers.

DRAPER VISITS O'MEARA

Situation in Hopdale is Discussed
With Reference to Presence There
of Boston Police

BOSTON, April 14.—In the pouring rain yesterday morning, Ex-Governor Eben S. Draper paid a visit to Police Commissioner Stephen O'Meara at his office in Pemberton square. The ex-governor arrived in his limousine about 11 o'clock and remained with the commissioner for half an hour.

Conditions at Hopdale in relation to the employment of Boston officers during the strike at the Draper plant were talked over, but Commissioner O'Meara said later that there was no discussion as to the recall of the 28 Boston patrolmen and two sergeants who have been on duty in Hopdale for about two weeks.

Ex-Governor Draper said later at his Boston home, 150 Beacon street, that during the visit to Commissioner O'Meara the general situation at Hopdale was discussed with reference to the presence of the Boston policemen there, but that the interview was of no particular moment.

KEEP IT OUT

UNITED EFFORT IN MANCHESTER
N. H.

To Nullify Work of Mormon Missionaries—Utah Refuse to Grow—Mormons in Lowell Recently

At St. Paul's M. E. church Sunday morning, Rev. Dr. MacPhie, secretary of the Massachusetts Patriotic Service association, gave an interesting talk on "The Menace of Mormonism." Dr. MacPhie spoke of the united effort in Manchester, N. H., at the present time to nullify the work of 11 Mormon missionaries who have been circulating their literature and making a personal campaign throughout that section. He said a mass meeting bringing together all of the churches of Manchester, regardless of creed, was to be held in the afternoon and as secretary of the Massachusetts Patriotic Service association he had been invited to participate.

As to the practice of polygamy, the speaker had no doubt, despite stringent laws to the contrary, and in this connection he referred to the admissions made by President Smith of the Mormon church in a comparatively recent time to the effect that Smith had five wives and 43 children.

Dr. MacPhie gave considerable attention to the financial strength of the church, and the figures which he presented clearly showed that the financial and membership features of the church have developed consistently and that the organization today is equipped to spread its sham religion as it never was before. While trained agitators were working throughout the country, presenting their arguments in the subtle, plausible manner designed to catch the unwary, the Mormon church has made alarming strides, and it behooves all other churches to unite, as they are doing in Manchester, that the progress of Mormonism shall not only be checked, but that the church itself shall be wiped out.

Members of St. Paul's church informed Dr. MacPhie that Mormonism had been in Lowell recently, but had received scant encouragement, and apparently had gone to Manchester, where their work was attended by more success.

Howthorne Girls Dance

The Howthorne Girls, composed of six regular school girls, held a successful dancing party at Highland hall, despite the unpleasant weather of Friday evening, April 11th. The affair was well attended and Kitteridge's orchestra furnished very catchy music which was appreciated and well applauded by the large gathering.

The affair is in charge of the affair, Mrs. E. A. Laidlaw, general manager; Jennie Anderson, assistant general manager; Marie Livingston, director; Marie Brick, assistant floor director; Theresa Brick, secretary; and Katharine Brick, treasurer. The affair was Sam Rousseau, Horace Livingston, Frank Erick, Wesley Laurin and Edna Brick.

BUNTING CLUB SOCIAL

Second Smoke Talk a
Big Success

The members of the United States Bunting club, one of the city's most active organizations, held the second in a series of smoke talks in their quarters in South Lowell on Saturday evening, and there were present about three hundred members and guests. Among the principal guests were Mayor James E. O'Donnell and Commissioners James E. Donnelly, Andrew E. Barrett and George H. Brown. John W. McEvoy, Esq., was one of the speakers.

President Philip McNulty opened the program with an address in which he dwelt upon the work of the club and its plans. The program included piano solos by Joseph Frechette, songs by John Wilby, Fred Sundin, Fred Booth, John Y. Myers, William Hallett and James J. Donnelly. An orchestra of 12 pieces under the direction of Robert Stravely rendered selections. There was a cornet solo by Fred Harrington, violin solo by Mr. Borjes, trombone solo by John Kinghorn; recitation, "The Old English Soldier," by Andrew E. Barrett, and Irish selections on the saxophone by John McCann. The mayor was among the principal speakers of the evening.

Commissioner James Donnelly created great amusement by his impersonations of Harry Lauder in Scotch songs. The affair was most successful in every respect and the proceeds will go towards the building fund. A minstrel entertainment will be given at the next smoke talk, which will take place in May.

ENJOYED A BANQUET

Members of Beavers' Social Club of Massachusetts Mills Spent Pleasant Evening at Odd Fellows hall

The members of the Beavers' Social club of the Massachusetts Mills held a banquet and social evening at the Odd Fellows hall, Saturday evening. The attendance was large and an enjoyable evening was spent.

The toastmaster was Richard Lonsdale, president of the club, and seated at his right was Overseer Sillip and Mr. George Booth, the latter overseer of the hearing department. Both of these gentlemen spoke interestingly, approving the idea of a social club. A letter from Agent Mitchell, expressing his interest in the welfare of the club, was read and well received.

At the close of the feast, which was excellent, a musical program was rendered, those taking part being as follows: George Booth, Robert Hollingsworth, James McGrath, Thomas Booth, James Taylor, John Motley, Bryan Early, Joseph Chateaufort, Fred McCarthy and William Gilbride. Step dances were given by Bryan Early and James McGrath. The evening closed with all present singing "Auld Lang Syne."

BILLERICA

Dr. Edward A. Horton, chaplain of the Grand Masonic Lodge of Massachusetts, spoke at the evening services of the Unitarian church last night. The meeting was held under the auspices of the parish club and was well attended. Dr. Horton talked on the relation of the Mason to the church. Mr. Fred Booth of Lowell was the soloist.

The board of selectmen will hold a meeting tonight in the town hall to transact all unfinished business.

The A. St. John Chamber club will hold a meeting in the parish house of St. Anne's mission tomorrow night at 7:45 o'clock.

At the morning service at St. Anne's mission yesterday the Rev. Samuel H. Jobe preached on the subject, "Charity and Justice."

A meeting of the Woman's Mission circle of the North Billerica Baptist church will be held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John E. Rowell, Mt. Pleasant street. All ladies having mite boxes are requested to bring them as this will be the semi-annual annual opening of mite boxes.

"AT AN AFTERNOON CALL"

said a popular society woman: "The subject of woman's health was under discussion, and to my amazement three out of four women in the room, who had happened to call at the same time, had found health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

"Thousands of women in America owe their health and happiness to the marvelous power of this famous medicine, which is made from roots and herbs, nature's remedy for woman's ills."

OBSERVED 45TH ANNIVERSARY

Imposing Ceremony at
St. Joseph's Church—
Brief History

Forty-five years ago yesterday St. Joseph's church in Lee street was opened for service and the first mass was celebrated by the late Rev. Andre M. Garin, O. M. I., and the clergymen of the parish could not let the event go unnoticed, inasmuch as the day also marked the feast of St. Joseph, patron saint of the church. Accordingly appropriate service was held at 10:30 o'clock, when a solemn high mass was celebrated.

The temple was attractively decorated for the occasion, especially the altar, which presented a very fine appearance with its many incense lights and potted plants and flowers. The large statue of St. Joseph above the altar was surrounded with numerous electric bulbs, while the sanctuary was decorated with lilies and other flowers.

The congregation was exceptionally large and the service was one of the most impressive ever held in this cozy temple. The celebrant of the mass was the pastor, Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I., who was assisted by Rep. Bro. Joseph Bolduc, O. M. I., as deacon and Rev. Bro. Rosario Jolbert, O. M. I., as sub-deacon, both of the Tewksbury novitiate. The sermon, an eloquent one on the life of St. Joseph was delivered by the rector, Rev. Charles Paquette, O. M. I.

Previous to his sermon the reverend gentleman took occasion to review the growth of the parish during the past 45 years, and also referred to the feast of the day. He said in part: "The feast we are today observing has a particular attraction for us inasmuch as it was on this day forty-five years ago that the Canadians of Lowell were able to meet in a church of their own and there in their own tongue hear the word of God. It was a day of joy and one long to be remembered, and now after 45 years have elapsed, you who were so devoted to their church, come again to observe the glorious anniversary, and also to honor the memory of this glorious saint, St. Joseph."

USED COMFORT POWDER
FOURTEEN YEARS, FINDS NOTHING BETTER

Mrs. W. G. Conley writes from Ashville, N. C.: "I have used Comfort Powder daily for over 14 years and just cannot do without it. I took six boxes to Panama with me but ran out of it on board ship and the minute I struck New York I sent out for two more. I can't find any other powder that will half way do. To heal and comfort the skin there is nothing like Comfort Powder." Physicians, Trained Nurses and Hospitals everywhere do not hesitate to give Comfort Powder most unqualified endorsement. Be sure you get the genuine with signature of E. S. Sykes on box.

REV. CHARLES PAQUETTE, O. M. I.
Rector of St. Joseph's Parish

ery of this glorious saint, St. Joseph. "If some of you were present at the dedication of the church could speak in my place, imagine with what eloquence you would relate the religious celebrations that have been held in this old temple since it was opened for service. Many of you had the pleasure of receiving your first communion and of being confirmed in this church, and many also were united in the bonds of matrimony. It is also here that many of you have listened to the preaching of the gospel from the lips of the lamented Fr. Garin and other clergymen who have followed his footsteps." The preacher also referred to the building of St. Jean Baptiste church and the burning of this beautiful structure.

The choir under the direction of its new director, Telephore Male rendered a special musical program. Mrs. Joseph A. Renard, presiding at the organ. In the afternoon solemn vespers were held and the service was largely attended.

History of Parish
St. Joseph's parish was founded in 1868 when the late Rev. A. M. Garin, O. M. I., and Rev. Fr. Lagier, O. M. I., were sent to this city by the Oblate order to preach the gospel to the French Americans of Lowell. Through the courtesy of the late Rev. John O'Brien, pastor of St. Patrick's church, the lower part of the said church was opened for the French speaking people and the missionaries preached a mission at the close of which Mesdames Joseph Miller and Louis Bergeron, the former mother of Joseph Miller of the Talbot Clothing Co., volunteered to raise funds for the establishment of a parish. At that time there were about 12,000 French people in Lowell. These two devoted women in a short time raised $8,000 and in April of the same year, Messrs. Joseph Miller, Louis Bergeron and Jean Baptiste Allard were appointed a committee by the late Fr. Garin to purchase the Unitarian church in Lee street, at that time occupied by Spiritualists. The building was purchased on Thursday at a cost of $11,500 and the following Sunday, which was the feast of St. Joseph, service was held for the first time. Rev. Fr. Garin officiating at the mass. The vestments used at the first mass were made by Mrs. Miller.

The building which was given the name of St. Joseph's church was 53 feet long by 47 feet wide, and at the altar rail there was room for only four people. In 1872 two small houses in Lee street were bought at a cost of $2550 and the temple was made square, that is, 53 feet by 53 feet, with a seating capacity of 1500. Five years later four more houses, two in Lee street and two in Kirk avenue, were purchased and another addition put on. The cost of these buildings was $12,000 and the dimensions of the temple were 150 feet by 83 feet, with a seating capacity of 2000. The total cost of the church was $70,000.

Up to 1877 the priests in charge of the parish made their home at the immaculate Conception rectory, and in that year the property at the corner of Merrimack and Austin streets was purchased from Lawyer Bonney at a cost of $5000 and remodeled into a rectory.

The French population so greatly increased that in 1885 a large strip of land in Merrimack street, adjoining the rectory, was bought from the Tremont & Suffolk Co. at a cost of $26,000, and St. Jean Baptiste church was erected thereon. This fine granite structure was gutted by fire last September.

Among the pastors of St. Joseph's parish were: Rev. Andre M. Garin, O. M. I., Rev. D. N. Forget, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Forget-Dupaty, O. M. I., Rev. Gr. Gagnon, O. M. I., Rev. Joseph LeFebvre, O. M. I., Rev. Joseph Campeau, O. M. I., and the present pastor, Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I.

There are now two other French Catholic parishes in Lowell: St. Louis and Notre Dame de Lourdes, and a chapel, St. Mary's, in South Lowell, while the residents of Pawtucketville have petitioned the cardinal for a church in their district.

CELEBRATES AT 105

Mrs. Ann Elizabeth Magill of Philadelphia is observing her birthday anniversary today.

PHILADELPHIA, April 14.—Mrs. Ann Elizabeth Magill, who was born on April 14, 1808, near Doylestown in Bucks county, Pa., is celebrating her birthday at her home here today. She is wonderfully preserved and with the exception of her failing sight has full possession of her faculties. Mrs. Magill attributes her long life to hard work, regular living and absence of worry.

"EVERY LITTLE OLIVE TABLET HAS A MOVEMENT ALL ITS OWN"

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent. of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities.

MET THE PRESIDENT

Dr. Friedmann at the White House

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Dr. Frederick Franz Friedmann, the Berlin scientist who claims to have discovered a cure for tuberculosis prepared early today for his test at the George Washington hospital before Surgeon General Blue of the public health service and a company of local and foreign physicians. Willing patients by the score were early on the scene. Dr. Friedmann, however, has insisted that he be permitted to pick his subjects.

Secretary Bryan, and a number of members of the diplomatic corps and one or two members of congress who had been physicians before they took up public duties were invited. Before inoculating the first patient, Dr. Friedmann paid a visit to the White House where he shook hands with President Wilson. He went directly to the hospital from the White House.

STRIKERS SPENT $30,000

11th Week of Garment Workers' Struggle

BOSTON, April 14.—Union leaders announced today that the striking garmentworkers have expended nearly $30,000 in conducting their 11 weeks' struggle for better conditions. It was said that union garmentworkers in New York would be asked to aid the Boston strikers. Several hundred men and women who attended an all-night mass meeting went on picket duty at dawn. They summoned a number of shops where men's ready made clothing is manufactured and sold.

Today, April 14

This is the anniversary of the Titanic disaster which occurred on Sunday night, April 14, 1912, in Latitude 41.16 N., Longitude 59.14 W., off the New Foundland coast. There were 1400 passengers and 840 of a crew aboard when the great steamer struck an iceberg. The deaths numbered 1601 and those rescued by the Carpathia 745. It was the general opinion that the accident was due to reckless speed in an effort to make a record on the steamer's maiden trip.

CHANGE IN THE LAW OF LIBEL

The change in the law of libel recently enacted through the efforts of Senator Fisher and Rep. Butler of this city will benefit every newspaper in the state, to the extent that it reduces the time limit in which a suit for libel can be brought from two years to one.

As a result of the growth of newspapers and the multiplicity of sources from which the "copy" is derived, it is found impossible to trace the authorship of the greater part of the matter even six months after the date of publication. Where news items come from widely different sources in a large newspaper, many libelous articles may appear in its columns without the knowledge of the publishers, but that does not relieve them of the responsibility. If, therefore, a suit for libel were held back for two years after the date of publication without any notice whatever to the publishers, it might happen that the witnesses necessary for the defense were dead or had moved to another state, while the documentary evidence necessary might have been destroyed, so that the paper sued would be entirely helpless and would have to settle the matter in the earliest way possible.

In such cases also the defendant publisher is different from other defendants for he is assumed to be guilty until he establishes his innocence of the charges made by the plaintiff. If the suit be brought soon after the date of publication, he may have the advantage of securing all the evidence available, whereas two years after that date, the chances would be greatly against him.

The first bill introduced by Representative Butler provided for a notice of intention to sue within thirty days of the date on which the alleged libel was published; but this was considered unfair to the party claiming to have been libeled. Nevertheless, he believes it is still a law that if a person falls upon the street on account of its rough condition he cannot sue unless he gives notice within thirty days after the accident. Before the Women's Compensation act went into effect the man injured in a factory could not sue unless he gave notice of suit within thirty days after the occurrence. The same right might be claimed by the newspaper in cases of alleged libel most of which are unintentional and without premeditation.

The change already made, however, will do some good in preventing parties supposed to have been libeled from restricting the freedom of the press by holding a libel suit as a club over a newspaper for the space of two years. Anybody who is actually libeled can decide whether to sue or not to sue within a year and that is long enough to keep a matter of that kind in the air. The time may come when the statutes will make it compulsory upon the plaintiff to give notice of the intention to sue within sixty or ninety days after the publication of the alleged libel.

The next amendment to the law of libel in this state, however, should have a provision to compel parties who bring libel suits to give a bond for payment of the expenses of the defense where the trial shows that there was no case. At the present time suits are brought often without cause by parties whose sole aim is to make trouble for newspapers. There should be some protection against the libel suits entered into on speculation.

FIRES IN THEATRES

The terrible Iroquois fire in Chicago and many more recent examples of similar catastrophes have aroused wide public discussion as to the need for protection against such disasters in public places. All theatres are now compelled by law to conform with many definite regulations as to exits, seating capacity, safety appliances, asbestos curtains, and many other preventive measures. Such regulations are also being more rigidly enforced than formerly. The owners and managers of theatres, however, realize that the greatest danger in the case of a conflagration results from the panic which usually follows, and the mad attempts of the people to rush to safety without calm consideration or order, and many managers throughout the country have taken steps to educate their audiences as to what course they ought to pursue if a fire should break out during a performance. A new regime has repudiated the dollar Lynn theatre has hit upon a novel scheme in this educational campaign, and one that might advantageously be generally followed by all the theatres of the country.

In this theatre a short list of pointed instructions dealing with the different phases of the danger of disorder and panic are thrown upon a screen during a full in the performance. One warns the people not to heed the cry of "fire" or anything that sounds like it if raised by anybody but an employee of the theatre. Another instructs them as to the use of the aisles and exits, and orderly trooping out. A third advocates calmness in a real case of fire and appeals to their reason, advising them to remain in their seats until they count ten, thereby collecting their wits. They are shown that, to rush, simply delays the process of emptying the house orderly, and must result in injury to many. They are also assured that the theatre is as safe as human invention can make it, and that the fire curtain can be lowered in three seconds.

Now, the wisdom of this transaction must be apparent. The history of all great theatre and bazaar fires has shown that most deaths have resulted from the crush that follows a wild stampede, and among the saved are usually those who have refrained from panic in the mad scramble, and discovered some means of escape that was not noticed by the excited mass which surged to the front entrance. While excitable individuals frequent theatres, there will be this danger of a cry of fire, and the necessity for a better education of the public as to the proper procedure in such cases will be always with us. A general adoption of a list of simple and pointed instructions, often reiterated, would tend to wipe out the danger that will always arise from panic and confusion. It does not need much reflection to see that in this instance the proverb of the ounce of prevention being worth a pound of cure has a most appropriate illustration.

PRES. MELLON AND HIS CRITICS

There has seldom been a more striking example of the ruinous effect of unjust and adverse criticism than is seen in the sudden fall in the market price of Boston and Maine stock as a result of the crusade waged by professional politicians, legal and journalistic railroad baiters and the dupes misled by false charges ingeniously devised to deceive the general public.

For some weeks past there has been a lull in the campaign of lies and vilification by which President Mellon was assailed, his policies misrepresented and placed under suspicion. The action of the Boston Chamber of Commerce has had a salutary effect in reassuring the public and in restoring confidence in Mr. Mellon's honesty of purpose and his progressive policy of expansion for the benefit of New England.

It has finally dawned upon the intelligent people of New England that the Boston and Maine and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads are New England industries upon whose progress, development and success, depends very largely the prosperity of other New England industries for which an efficient freight service at moderate rates is indispensable.

There is a change of public sentiment also in regard to railroad mergers. The old idea that it is best for the public to maintain railroad competition has been exploded as impracticable at least in large systems. We cannot have parallel or competing lines running to Canada or from east to west despite the fact that any policy of merger or consolidation that would destroy competition is in direct violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. But this law will have to be changed so as to permit any merger, however great, under strict government regulation. The merger that unites a number of railroads in a single system, eliminates unnecessary expense, and enables the road to undertake improvements that would otherwise be impossible. This is the policy advocated by President Mellon and the time is not far distant when it must be adopted by the government of this nation as that best calculated to promote efficiency and the rapid development demanded by the progress of our industries. The government has before it two alternatives in this railroad controversy. One is free consolidation under strict government regulation to protect the interests of the people; the other government ownership and operation of all the interstate railroads of the country, a policy that is favored by no class except the socialists.

FINE STROKE OF POLICY

Out of no other stroke of wise policy has the democratic administration at Washington received so much credit throughout the country as upon its handling of the Chinese loan. The attitude of this nation but also that of China in refusing to make our government a party to forcing a hard financial bargain with the infant Chinese, repudiated before its existence has been officially recognized. President Wilson will evidently refuse to be a party to any crooked scheme no matter by whom it may be foisted.

Mr. Bryan has the satisfaction of knowing that China will not be crucified upon a cross of gold.

Seen and Heard

"Who is the lady who just stepped off the car?" inquired the young man.

"I don't know," replied the conductor.

"Funny she should ride on your car if she doesn't know you," said the young man, suppressing a smile.

"Indeed, I don't know half the women who ride on this car," said the guileless conductor. "And this happens in Lowell, too."

Cosmos Hamilton, the young English writer, was talking in New York about eugenics.

"The eugenist," he said, "is no foe to properly regulated divorce. Some eugenists even think that the reasons for divorce need not be given."

"Such eugenists are like the old Roman who invented the phrase, 'Where the shoe pinches,'"

"This old Roman was reproached by his friends for divorcing his wife. They could see no fault in her, they said. They asked how he wanted to go and divorce her for."

"The old Roman, by way of answer, smiled and took off his shoe."

"Look at that," he said, holding it up and turning it about. "It seems a good shoe, doesn't it? You can't find anything wrong with it, can you? And yet—"

"The old Roman here frowned impressively."

"—And yet," he said, "none of you can tell where it pinches me!"

Vincent Astor, at a luncheon in New York, was congratulated upon the model farm of 600 acres that he is establishing on his Rhineback estate.

"I am going to devote my life to the development of New York agriculture," Mr. Astor said; "but, of course, at the present time I am ignorant of farming as the longshoreman was of seamanship."

"A longshoreman, you know, hoveled an able seaman's discharge papers during a strike, and enlisted on a full-rigged ship."

"On his first watch on deck, the order rang out, 'Haul in the jib!' and the longshoreman in his ignorance tore aft like the wind."

"About the wheel he ran foul of the captain, who roared:

"Didn't you hear the order? You don't expect to find the jibboom jutting out from the stern, do you?"

The longshoreman pulled his forelock as he had seen old shellbacks do. "I don't know," he said. "Different ships, different customs."

KINDNESS

When your skies are as blue as a midsummer day.

And you're far on the road to success.

When you haven't a care as you go on.

It is easy enough to be kind and be gay.

To the brother who's deep in distress.

It is easy enough to be helpful to men.

When you have good fortune to share.

But the real man you'll find.

Always thinks to be kind.

And goes out of his way to assist others.

Re, too, has a burden of care.

When you're money and comfort and all that.

And you're almost in reach of your goal.

A cry for assistance it's easy to heed.

To pause on your way for the word of the good.

That may strengthen a poor brother's soul.

But kindness is he, in the heat of the day.

Who never forgets to be kind.

To the weak and distressed.

Although he is hard pressed.

And that he may answer a call by the way.

Is willing to linger behind.

For kindness is not in the size of the gift.

And it isn't the flower of success.

The humblest of us has the power to shift.

The weight of a burden and offer a lift.

To others whose fortunes are less.

And though rough and rugged today.

Be our way.

We haven't the right to be blind.

To others who are in need.

We are failures indeed.

If we come to the end of our journey.

And say.

We didn't have time to be kind.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House

Edgar Selwyn's four new comedy success, "The Country Boy," presented by the Henry B. Harris Estate, is to be the attraction at the Opera House, Friday, April 12.

The story of "The Country Boy" tells of a year or so in the life of Tom Wilson, an irresponsible country boy, with a boyish heart. So sure of himself is he, he laughingly scorns the opportunities offered him in his home town and goes to New York, to show to the world that a man can do a large city. In a very short time, he learns something of real life. He makes a pal of a shallow chorus girl, Amy, who, like him, is about as high as her own sweet will, neglects his work and generally plays the giddy goat. His sweetheart's father learns of his conduct and breaks off the life-long love affair.

In the third act, there enters strong-

Messrs. Werbe & Luescher have definitely decided to send their latest big musical success, "The Rose Maid" to this city on Saturday, April 19, when Lowell people will have the opportunity of seeing this delightful opera, which ran for two years on Broadway, New York City, and which will play an all winter engagement at the Colonial theatre in Chicago. This will undoubtedly be one of the chief events of the theatrical season. The opera, Rose Maid, has duplicated the vogue of its sister Venetian opera, "The Spring Maid" and with good reason. It is a more elaborate and splendid production, requiring no feet baggage cars to carry its scenery and properties. To accommodate the entire company with its numerous costumes, hats and shoes, a special train is required for every railroad movement.

CUPID TRICKS PRETTY HEIRESS HER "IDEAL" GOES TO SMASH

NEW YORK, April 14.—Just about a year ago pretty Miss Lilla Gilbert, one of the richest of society beauties, decided that her ideal husband must have certain qualifications. Being heiress to $15,000,000, it was expected that she would naturally get what she wanted. But shortly after she had decided upon what kind of a man she wished Cupid to throw her way she met Howard Price Renshaw, also wealthy and in her set, at Palm Beach. Now, the young man didn't fulfill her ideal at all, but you know ideals have a way of taking a back seat when Cupid shoots his arrows. In consequence the couple obtained a license to marry on April 15. This was her ideal man: Six feet tall; brunette, clean shaven, firm jaw; thick hair curled over left ear, and ears close to head; a republican, Episcopalian and a money maker; straight nose; large and intelligent, but not soulful eyes; good rider; fond of athletics, fond of animals, holding decided ideas about pigs and poultry; must like lemon in his tea and wear his clothes like John Drew. This is the man she decided to wed: Six feet tall, slightly stooped; reddish hair and mustache; firm jaw; hair cut short, not a curl in it; ears close to head; a democrat, Episcopalian, and never earned a dollar in his life; aquiline nose; brown eyes, not large, but keen and twinkling; good rider; ardent hunter; fond of horses and dogs; absolutely destitute of ideas about pigs and poultry; doesn't drink tea nor admire John Drew's clothes.

West & Co. offer the riotously funny "Musical Brownie" and the grand opera "The Girl of the Year" at the Merrimack Square theatre this week. The comedy, "The Girl of the Year," a woman, offer the best Roman ladder act in the stage today. Livingston & Fields are mustering their army of actors in pictures which will hold two brand new subjects. Seats for all performances may be purchased in advance. The box office telephone is 28.

"THE ROSE MAID"

Messrs. Werbe & Luescher have definitely decided to send their latest big musical success, "The Rose Maid" to this city on Saturday, April 19, when Lowell people will have the opportunity of seeing this delightful opera, which ran for two years on Broadway, New York City, and which will play an all winter engagement at the Colonial theatre in Chicago. The Playhouse

The fact that "The Thief," Henri Bernstein's three act drama, which is to be given this week at The Playhouse by The Drama Players and under the personal guidance of Kendal Weston, was one of Daniel Frohman's greatest successes, should assure every playgoer that the piece is well worth seeing. The drama has been a success in numerous and all have been the kind that pleased. With Miss Bertha Mann and Mr. Smythe in the leading characters and supported by a capable cast, there is every reason to expect that "The Thief" will rank with the success scored last week by "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." The first performance of "The Thief" will be given tonight and then twice daily, the remainder of the week. Phone 511.

Keith's Theatre

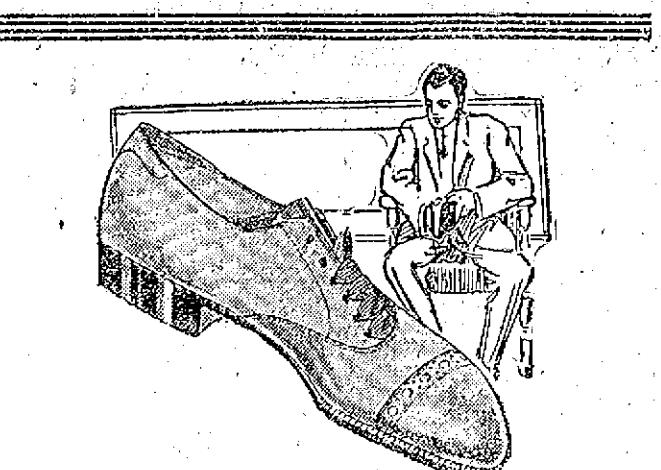

The Five Armanis, presenting the splendid musical act, "A Night in Venice," will be the big bill at the Keith theatre this week. The five singers and musicians—three men and two women—will play the boat songs and love melodies of Venice, and dances peculiar to this part of the world will be shown. The scenic investment of the act is particularly charming. Lew Hanks, the Chesterfield of minstrelsy, will adorn the line-up of acts for Hawkins. It is really quite a class by himself. Everything he does holds a splendidly distinctive polish to it. Sutton, McIntyre & Sutton, in the acrobatic novelty sketch, "The Pumpkin Girl," have something quite new while John A.

ANNUAL REPORT OF DAY NURSERY

Officers Elected—Attendance in 1912 the Largest Yet

The annual meeting of the Lowell Day Nursery association was held Saturday afternoon at the nursery rooms, 61-65 Kirk street, and the following officers were elected:

President, Dr. Moses G. Parker; treasurer, James Gilbert Hill; clerk, Mrs. C. M. Williams. The following directors, whose terms expired yesterday, were re-elected for three year terms: Mrs. Julian Talbot, Mrs. L. E. MacBrayne, Mrs. N. W. Peabody, Mrs. W. F. Lawler.

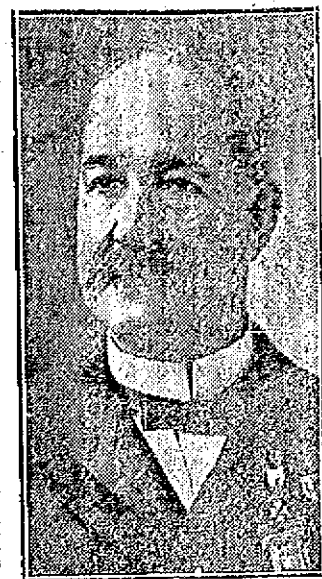

The full list includes: Mrs. L. T. Brown, Mrs. N. P. H. Robbins, Mrs. J. L. Chalifoux, Mrs. Mary A. Plunkett, Mr. Paul Butler, Mrs. C. M. Williams, Mrs. Sarah Dempsey, Mrs. A. D. Prince, Miss Harriet Coburn and Mr. D. F. Carroll.

The annual report of the officers was submitted, as follows: The attendance for the year just completed is the largest without exception in the history of the association. The total for the year is as follows: First street day nursery, 893; Kirk street day nursery, 10,515; total, 11,408.

This represents at the Kirk street nursery 101 children cared for during the year. Some of these children brought by the mothers for the first time as infants have passed the greater part of their lives in the nursery. One child has been left in charge of the Kirk street day nursery year after year, almost every working day for six years.

At the First street nursery 161 children have been cared for making a total of 352 for the two houses. On one occasion the attendance was reduced to three at the First street house by reason of the strike in the mills, and to nine at Kirk street. On another occasion it rose to the unprecedented number of 61 at Kirk street. The largest attendance on any one day at Kirk street was 61.

There have been cared for in the temporary home for a period of time varying from several hours to eleven weeks, 25 children; and in three instances the mothers have been given a shelter with their infants. One of the children was brought from the Women's Christian Temperance union where it had been abandoned. This child, a fine boy, was placed in a good home a few days later.

There are six children at present in the temporary home. Of these four are provided for by their father, the mother being dead, and two by their mothers who are widows.

Eleven nationalities are represented in both nurseries, American, Armenian, English, Greek, French, Irish, Italian, Polish, Russian and Swedish.

The terms of the bequest from which a large part of our income is derived require that there shall be no outstanding bills at the close of the year, so we have been obliged to defer the necessary repairs for lack of funds.

A few hundred dollars, judiciously expended, would put the First street house into comparatively good order and it is hoped that some way may be found to obtain that very desirable end.

The directors wish to express their grateful appreciation to all who have

"All is Well That Ends Well"

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness, sleeplessness and general ill health. Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be assimilated and carried to the blood. On the other hand, the blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion. In turn, the nerves are not fed on good, red blood and we see those symptoms of nervous breakdown. It is not hard work that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor thin blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip—bronchitis—consumption. Fortify the body now with

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The meeting of Waverly lodge, Sons of St. George was held Saturday in 054 Fellows Bldg. with good attendance and important routine matters were noted upon. One membership application was referred to the investigating committee. The report of the committee in charge of St. George's day observance was to the effect that arrangements have been made with authorities of St. Paul's M. E. church to attend the services on Sunday morning, April 20. Rev. Dr. King will preach an appropriate sermon for the occasion. The Princess lodge, Daughters of St. George, is also invited to attend the service. The annual degree staff competition is to be held in Boston on Saturday, April 19 and a large number of Lowell members are planning to go down. They will leave Merrimack square at 7.10 a. m. on the Lexington line and the competition will start at half past nine in Lawrence encampment hall, 724 Washington street.

Evening Star Rebekah Lodge

Members of Evening Star, Rebekah lodge gathered in regular session in Odd Fellows building on Saturday evening and transacted important routine business. It was voted to send $10 to the grand lodge in Boston to go toward the relief of the Ohio sufferers. Certificates were given out for the assembly meeting in Boston the first Wednesday in May. Following the business meeting there was a rehearsal of the degree staff.

CYCLONES AND FLOODS

Is There a God Who Cares What Happens?

TEMPER OF MANY IS TO SAY "NO"

But the God of the Universe Does Care—Sermon on Disasters by Rev. C. A. Lincoln

"Great Disasters and the Questions They Raise," was the subject of an interesting sermon by Rev. C. A. Lincoln at Kirk Street church Sunday morning. The offering of the day at this church was devoted to the relief fund for the flood sufferers. Mr. Lincoln said in part:

"There is no pleasure without the possibility of disasters; and the lives

REV. C. ARTHUR LINCOLN

of men and women set before us in the Bible are filled with the adversity and the prosperity of ordinary men and women who passed through the perils and the pleasures of life, just as you and I endure them.

"This, which we see in the Bible, we read also in history; a world full of prosperity, full of adversity. Napoleon, at the very height of his glory, is suddenly cast down and dies in neglect and disgrace. In our own country, a man is born of lowly parentage, becomes president of the United States and the greatest man the country has produced, for the time being. Then, in the prime of his glory, he is murdered by a man who claims to think he is doing the country a great service.

"How about the mighty cyclone, that scatters whole villages and stacks up whole cities in heaps of ruins? How about the mighty floods, leaving everywhere distress and ruin? In the minds of men who thus suffer there arise certain questions concerning the God who rules the universe. Is there a God who cares? The temper of many people is to say no. If your home were suddenly destroyed by some accident, not at all the result of your own carelessness, and your own family scattered, torn by the awful, cruel forces that God himself has created, you might well ask, 'Is there any God who cares?' I could not answer that question fully, perhaps to the man who is in the heart of distress. But there are certain considerations that relieve the question of the sting of it. If it be true that all pain, all suffering, has a purpose, then I think we may conclude that the God of the universe does care.

"We sometimes feel envious of people who are not responsive to suffering. They are not so quick to become discouraged. They go along in a rather indifferent way through life, and we feel that their lot is somewhat better than ours. I take it that the very sufferings that come to us are for the purpose of bringing us to a higher appreciation of the life of God in the world. What is the greatest hindrance to the triumph of the spirit of God in the world? Is it the liquor traffic—the white slave traffic? Shall we name these great, outstanding evils which everyone recognizes? I think not. The greatest cause of the halting footsteps of the Kingdom of God in this world—for the slow coming of the reign of righteousness and peace in the world, in the unresponsiveness of men and women who hear the message. Men do not respond until they feel the pain of the world; until they enter into the deepest sympathy with those who are in pain and suffering.

"There is a cry that comes from the very depths of the human heart; from those suffering on beds of pain in our own community; from the devastated fields of the Balkan states; from the flood districts of the middle west: 'O Lord, how long, how long!'

"If there is a purpose in pain, that it may develop humanity there must be a culmination of that purpose sometime. We therefore look to the life beyond for a complete understanding of those ills that come to us now."

Sulpholac Restores the Health of the Skin

Acne (pimples and blackheads) is developed by the accumulation of waste matter and unhealthy tissue in the pores, a perfect home for germs. The skin quickly becomes irritated, infected and inflamed.

All skin eruptions which are caused by germs are promptly killed by Sulpholac. It contains sulphur—and sulphur is so valuable in caring for the skin that many attempts have been made to successfully incorporate it in a cream. Here it is combined with a highly-purified germ destroyer. Sulpholac reaches the cause of the trouble—the germ.

Prescribed by physicians for years. Now on sale at your druggist's. Invest 50c in a good-sized jar, with full directions, and see how it clears your skin. For free sample write Hudson & Co., Inc., 214 and 151 West 35th street, New York.

BOXING, GOLF
AND ATHLETICSMEMBERS OF THE NEW YORK GIANTS WITH THEIR WAR CLUBS
ARRANGED IN THEIR REGULAR BATTING ORDER

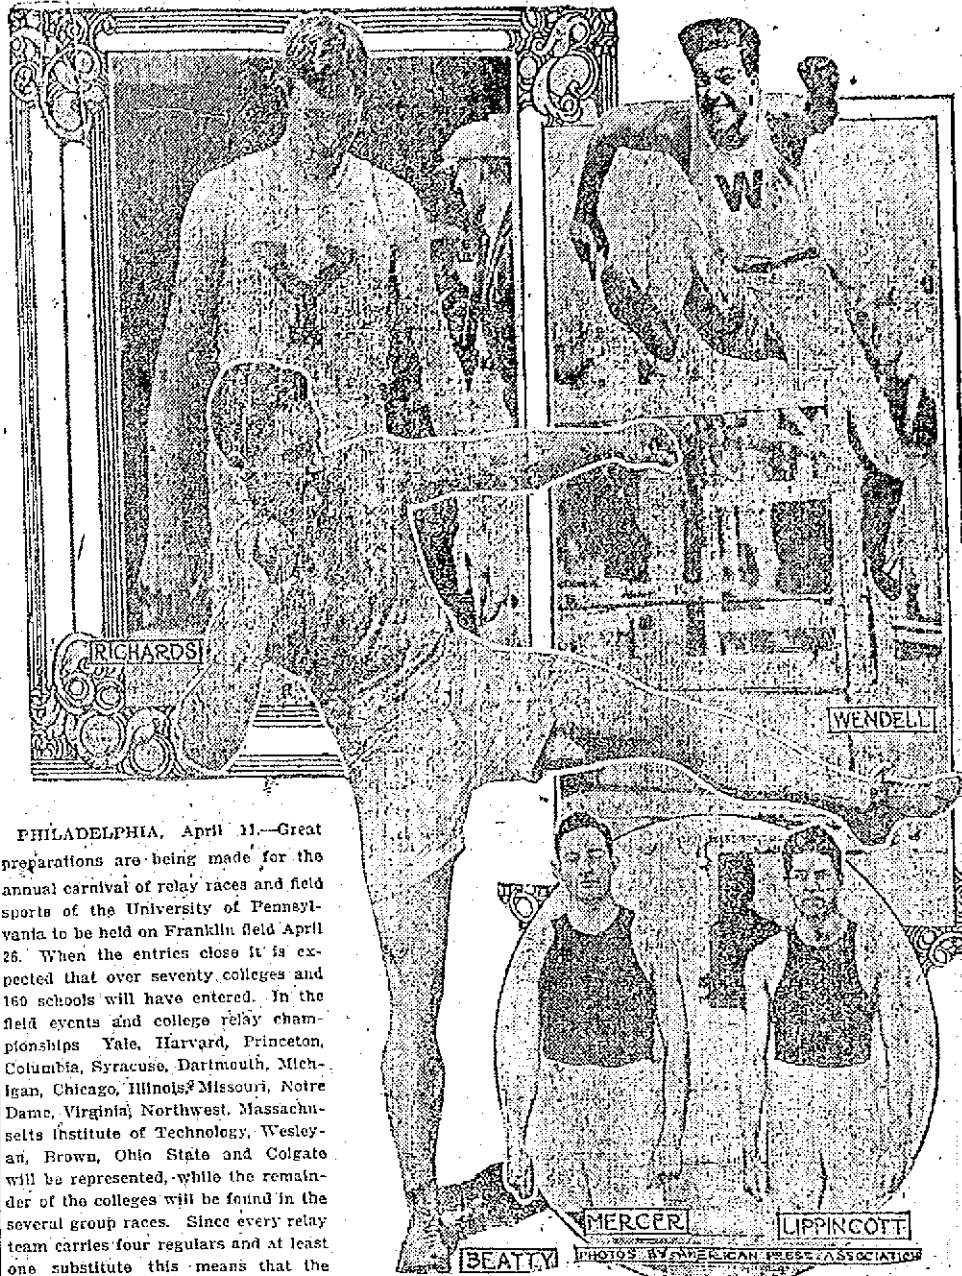

COPYRIGHT 1913 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK, April 14.—Although the Giants were whipped good and plenty by the Boston fall ends in the opening game of the season and otherwise showed up very poorly in all departments, Manager John McGraw says his team is without question the strongest in the league. In talking about the team recently McGraw said: "The Giants are the best base running team in either league. As for batting, there is not a man on the team who hits less than .260, and there are several who are in the .300 class. And, another thing, opposing twirlers fear the Giant batsmen perhaps more than any others in the country, especially with men on the bags. The team is well equipped in all departments. The pitching staff is a good one. I don't see any other club that has a better chance to win the flag. All I want is an even break in luck, and then the Giants will again compete in a world's series." Picture shows lineup of the Giants in regular batting order. The men, left to right, are as follows: Snodgrass, center field; Shafer, shortstop; Burns, left field; Doyle, second base; Murray, right field; Merkle, first base; Herzog, third base; Meyers, catcher.

COMPETE AT PENN ATHLETIC CARNIVAL

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—Great preparations are being made for the annual carnival of relay races and field sports of the University of Pennsylvania to be held on Franklin field April 26. When the entries close it is expected that over seventy colleges and 160 schools will have entered. In the field events and college relay championships Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, Syracuse, Dartmouth, Michigan, Chicago, Illinois, Missouri, Notre Dame, Virginia, Northwestern, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Wesleyan, Brown, Ohio State and Colgate will be represented, while the remainder of the colleges will be found in the several group races. Since every relay team carries four regulars and at least one substitute this means that the various relay races alone will bring to Philadelphia 1,250 athletes. There will probably be at least 150 competitors for the various special events, which will make the total list of contesting athletes, 1,400. No other athletic meet in the world, save the Olympic games themselves, has ever brought together so many individual athletes. Among those who are expected to shine are A. W. Richards of Brigham Young university of Salt Lake City. The Olympic winner is picked to win the running high jump, Beatty of Columbia is looked upon as a sure winner of the shot put. If Mercer of Penn competes in the broad jump he will win without much trouble. He is also entered in the one mile relay race. J. E. Wendell of Wesleyan should have things his own way in the high hurdles. Lippincott of Penn is entered in the 100 yard dash, but the chances are that he will run in the one mile team race. Many new records are looked for at the meet.

LINCOLNS WON

Defeated Lowell High School Base Ball Team in Ten Inning Game on Saturday

Coach Flemings took his Lowell high baseball team out to Washington Park Saturday and played a practice game with the Lincoln, the best local amateur team. The game was well played, throughout, the winner not being decided until the tenth inning had been played off. The high school boys were beaten out by one run in the extra inning.

Wilson, who pitched for the school boys did very well but handed out too many free passes to the opposing batters. He only played a star game for the Lincoln at the third bag. Wilson and Edwards performed the battery well for the high school team while Macdonald and Allen were the two ends of the Lincoln battery.

The Manchester Gymnasium defeated the Lamson Saturday night by a runaway score taking all three of the innings and a season of the victors, was high man with a total of 28 for his thirty boxes. The score:

Team	Runs	Hits	Errors
Manchester	28	30	0
Lamson	0	10	0

Lowell's A. Grant, 24; A. Parry, 21; B. Jackson, 22; Feyler, 26; G. Grant, 23; totals, 125.

GOOD BOXING BOUTS MANCHESTER WINS TITLE

Double Bill at the Lowell
A. C. This Week
Light Blues Stand First
in Soccer League

Local boxing fans will be provided with a generous array of bouts this week in addition to the regular weekly meeting on Friday evening a special session will be held on Saturday night. The latter will be conducted for the benefit of the Ohio flood sufferers.

At Friday night's meeting the main bout of twelve rounds will be furnished by Jimmy Moriarty of Lowell and Bill Fleming of Old Town, Maine. These two men have met three times but as all contests were decided where decisions are not allowed, the better man has not yet been determined. The three matches, however, went the limit and all provided great excitement for those who witnessed them. Both are of the slugger type, and are aggressive at all times. Moriarty feels that inasmuch as the winner is made known by an official at the local club that he will come out on the long end. "And," he added, "don't be surprised if I slip over a sleeper." Fleming, too, is confident that he will win. Jimmy Cooper of Boston, who boxed a draw here with Young Morgan of Manchester, will appear in the semi-final Friday night, against Larry Burns of Lawrence. The latter is the boy who put a dent in Pinnal Boyle's record, being the only man to defeat the Lowell boy. Young Murray and Young Halghey, who met here last Friday night, will again hold the boards in one of the prelims Friday. Gardner Brooks will appear in the other six round mixup.

Benefit For Flood Sufferers
On Saturday night, April 13, an all star show will be given for the benefit of the Ohio flood sufferers. Three 10-round bouts will be given. The program for the extra meeting is as follows:

Young Doyle vs. Young Stone, both of Lowell, 10 rounds; Oscar Lloyd of Manchester, Eng., vs. Kid Thomas of Lawrence, 10 rounds; Gus Lemney of Boston vs. Young Morgan of Manchester, 10 rounds.

Tennis The International Game

If baseball is Uncle Sam's national game and cricket is England's, tennis is certainly the international game. It is played everywhere on the face of the globe, almost from pole to pole, and from far east to near west. The United States and Canada are dotted with tennis clubs from ocean to ocean and well decorated with courts. Every country in Europe has its host of tennis players, from Russia down to the tip of Italy. Every sport loving foreigner in India is a tennis devotee, as are many of the natives. At the last tournament in Singapore there were 54 entries and the standard of play was very high. Tennis is played in the Malay states, in the Straits Settlements, in Siam, in Indo-China, all over Australia, New Zealand and Tasmania, as well as in many of the tiny islands of Polynesia. In the principal cities of China and Japan and their suburbs and in Egypt, under the shadow of the pyramids.

There are plenty of places in the world where an athletic American couldn't get up a club to play baseball or a patriotic Britisher couldn't find a cricket lover or bat, but if there is another lover of sport within hailing distance and the place is at all civilized one can be pretty sure of finding a tennis court and an opponent worthy of his racket.

LAWRENCE, April 14.—The Manchester Light Blues won the championship of the Lawrence, Lowell and District Soccer League by defeating Andover United at Glenn Essex Saturday afternoon by the score of 3 to 1. The game was played with one-half of the field under three inches of water. Manchester played strongly in the first half, and fine work by Capt. Harry Righton saved Manchester. The lineup:

Unverhill Franchise Taken Up
The New England league has finally stepped into the breach and yanked the franchise away from both the intended and the actual franchisees. The franchise thus left open will be disposed of tonight at a meeting of the league managers at the American House, Boston. It is stated by those who know that Dan Cloberry has been voted out of New England league baseball for this season at least.

Fall River seems to be the popular choice of the various club owners for the Harwich franchise to find a resting place in spite of the fact that Duff could not be persuaded to locate there. It is feared that without a team at Fall River, New Bedford will be forced to give up her team as the Whalers never make a financial success of baseball and with her sister city out of the league the going will be all the worse.

All Stars Lost
The Holdouts administered a beating to the crack All Star team last Saturday, defeating their rivals by the score of 8 to 4. The game was featured by a triple play by the All Stars and by the superb box work of Wilson for the Holdouts.

STAMPEDE OF 100 GIRLS

Followed by a General
Strike in Milford

MILFORD, April 14.—A general strike of Industrial Workers of the World was called here today by Joseph M. Caldwell, who is conducting the fight against the Draper company at Milford. The leader said his action was due to the fact that the Draper company was bringing in strike breakers. About 200 persons, chiefly foreigners are employed here, the principal industries being the manufacture of shoes and the quarrying and dressing of granite. The strike call followed a stampede this morning of 100 girls from the healing factory of Green Bros. An effort to induce the employees of the Regal shoe factory to leave their benches failed and none of the Italians at the quarries had quit up to late this forenoon.

When the founding strikers returned here from the usual morning parade to Hopedale, a noisy demonstration was made in front of the Green factory. The paraders numbered about 400 and after five minutes of shouting and yelling the doors of the factory suddenly flew open and 100 girls rushed into the street. They were greeted joyously by the strikers and the augmented body started for the Regal factory. Here another demonstration was made but the hum of the shoe machines continued. The paraders then marched to the driving park, where Leader Caldwell announced that a general strike had been called though he did not expect the call would be answered to any great extent before night.

Golf Twenty Years Ago
"It's hard to realize that American golf had its conception barely twenty-one years ago," commented Alexander P. W. Kinnam, president of the Union Pine bank, New York, "but that's the fact in a few words. John Reid of New York was responsible for it as the result of a trip to Scotland. 'Come out tomorrow,' he said to a few of us Feb. 21, 1891, 'and we'll try a Scotch game I enjoyed on the other side.'"

Accepting the invitation were John B. Upham, a New York broker; Harry Holbrook, now deceased, formerly of Holbrook Brothers, and myself, The

ARSONETTES PLY TORCH TO ARMY
AVIATION SHED, TO BURN AIRSHIP

LONDON, April 11.—The militant bushes and dead branches near by suffragettes in England tried to burn the blaze in the bushes was promptly put out. One of the watchmen said that two women had been seen passing the place shortly before the fire was discovered. The picture shows one of the big airships coming out of its shed.

Two years later the formation of the St. Andrews, the parent American club, resulted—and what has come as a natural consequence you all know quite well. Courses everywhere indicate the national prominence of the game, and all because it's a game for young and old, strong and weak, and its joy is unending.

GOLF BALLS EXPLODE

Two Bad Accidents Within Week

BALLS CONTAIN AN ACID AT THEIR CORES

Legislature Asked to Prohibit Them—Notice Posted at Vesper-Country Club

And now it is the harmless little golf ball that is causing alarm because it has already worked terrible destruction. The particular kind of ball that is dangerous is an imported ball that is filled with an acid that is used for the purpose of giving the ball greater resiliency. None of these golf balls have as yet found their way to the golf links about Lowell, but notices of warning in red ink have been posted at the Vesper-Country club. Copies of the notice were sent out by the executive committee of the United States Golf association to golf clubs all over the country. This notice reads:

IMPORTANT NOTICE. WARNING!—Owing to the fact that several serious accidents have occurred in the past few years due to cutting open certain makes of golf balls containing acids and other sight-threatening compounds, the United States Golf association warns all persons to refrain from this dangerous practice.

Executive Committee, U. S. G. A.

Members of the Vesper-Country club and well known golf players were asked today if they had ever witnessed an explosion of the acid golf ball and they said they had never seen it. Mr. A. H. Morton said that he had witnessed the explosion of a golf ball filled with compressed air, but there was nothing at all dangerous about it.

To Prohibit Sale

Owing to two serious accidents in the past four days, a bill will be introduced in the legislature, today or tomorrow, on recommendation of the state board of health, to prohibit the sale and use of certain imported golf balls which contain an explosive acid that destroys the eyesight and burns anything it touches when it is set off.

The two accidents which have aroused the board of health to take this action are the sequence to a long series of similar accidents in the past few years all over the country.

Several people have lost the use of one or both eyes and have been disfigured in other ways as a result of these golf balls exploding.

The two recent cases were brought to the attention of the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary yesterday. Both victims are young boys who were merely playing with golf balls they had found. One of the boys has lost the sight of his left eye and his face is otherwise disfigured, and the second boy's face was badly burned.

The boy who has lost the sight of his left eye is George Jefferson, 12 years, of 14 Crescent street, West Newton. The other boy is Stuart Friend, 9 years old, of 21 Sheffield street, Winchester.

STRIKERS INTIMIDATED

500 Operatives Wanted to Return to Work

AUBURN, N. Y., April 14.—Intimidation by a hundred strikers of the International Harvester Co. twine mill caused four or five hundred operatives who were desirous of returning to work to go away from the mill this morning when the whistle blew for the first time since the strike began. After 650 employees had passed through the lines of militia and police and entered the mill a conference was held by the officials of the company at the conclusion of which the order was issued to close the mill permanently and to hold the machinists to dismantle the machinery and pack it for shipment to Neuss, Germany.

The strikers, evidently regarding the company's threat to move away as a bluff, continued to jeer and marched away when the militia announced that the mill was closed.

A mass meeting of citizens has been called for tonight. Several strikes are imminent in other industries. The International Harvester mill paid $305,000 annually in wages.

THREE SHOTS FIRED AT KING

Alphonso Had a Narrow Escape
From Death—Own Quickness
Saved His Life

MADRID, April 14.—For the third time in his reign King Alfonso narrowly escaped death yesterday, being the victim of an anarchist attempt against his life. Three shots were fired at the king yesterday afternoon in the streets of the capital by a native of Barcelona, Rafael Sanchez Alkara, who was immediately overpowered.

King Alfonso owed his life to his own courage, quickness and skilled horsemanship. Accompanied by his staff, he was riding along the Calle de Alcalá on the way back from the ceremony of swearing in the recruits, when a man sprang from the sidewalk and seized the bridle of the king's horse with one hand, presenting a revolver point blank with the other.

The king took in the situation at a glance. With lightning rapidity he dug his spurs into his horse, which reared violently. His quickness saved his life. The bullet, instead of burying itself in the king's breast, struck the horse on the neck, but so close was it that the king's left hand glove was blackened by the powder discharge.

Seized by King's Guards

Before the assailant was able to pull the trigger again a secret service man sprang upon him. The two men fell to the ground locked in each other's arms, struggling furiously. The would-be assassin managed to free his revolver arm and fired two more shots in rapid succession, but the officer knocked his arm aside and the bullets flew harmlessly into the air.

At the sound of the first shot the king's staff forced the horses on the sidewalk and made a ring about the assassin, who fought long and fiercely in the grip of four policemen before he was overpowered and handcuffed.

King Alfonso, as soon as he saw that the man had been secured, raised himself in the stirrups, turned to the crowd, gave a military salute and shouted in ringing voice:

"Long live Spain!"

He then dismounted and reassured his staff, saying: "It is nothing, gentlemen."

Mighty Cheer for Monarch

Then uprose a mighty roar from the wildly enthusiastic masses, which rolled along in great waves of sound all the way as the king rode to the palace, cool, collected and smiling.

A spectator, a pensioned halberdier, pushed forward so impudently to offer his congratulations to the monarch that he was mistaken for another assassin and arrested. He was released, however, as soon as the mistake was learned.

A young Frenchman, who was standing beside Alfonso, was also arrested, but it does not appear that he was in any way connected with him.

The crowd made a determined attempt to lynch Alfonso, who was hurriedly taken into a house and kept there until an auto-ambulance, escorted by mounted police, transferred him to police headquarters.

King Alfonso was first to tell of what he lightly called "the incident which caused delay." To Queen Victoria and the dowager queen, Maria Christina, at the palace, who were greatly alarmed.

Recently Expelled From France

The king smilingly allayed their fears.

He had hardly been back ten minutes when an immense clamor arose. The two squares overlooked by the palace were black with people of all classes, desirous of showing their joy at the king's safety and their admiration for his display of bravery. The king went to the balcony and acknowledged the cheers, and then sought the queen, and the two stood bowing to the throngs for several minutes.

The police investigations have established that Alfonso was recently expelled from France as an anarchist, after which he went to Barcelona. He came to Madrid a month ago and obtained employment in a carpenter shop. He worked there until Friday, on which day he was paid off.

Woman Under Arrest, Too

It is said that during the course of his first examination Alfonso declared that on seeing the king pass he was seized with a sudden evil impulse, and having a revolver in his pocket drew it out. Driven on by an irresistible force he sprang forward and fired.

A woman said to be associated with Alfonso, was placed under arrest last night.

A curious coincidence is found in the fact that the Spanish premier, Count de Romanos, Saturday night declared to the absolutely without foundation alarming rumors which had been circulated in Madrid regarding the possibility of an attempt against the king yesterday on the occasion of the swearing in of the recruits and relative to the presence in Madrid of several dangerous anarchists.

KING ALFONSO TOOK EARLY RIDE IN PARK THIS MORNING—HEARTILY SALUTED

MADRID, April 14.—King Alfonso of Spain took an early ride in the park this morning and was heartily saluted by crowds of people who had gathered to cheer him. Joy reigned everywhere, that the king had escaped the bullets fired by the would-be regicide, Rafael Sanchez Alkara, while his majesty was returning from a review of troops yesterday. Alfonso was in a merry mood during the examination, his sallies causing the guards surrounding him and the interrogating magistrates to smile.

Inquiries made by the police in Barcelona show that Alfonso was rejected from the Spanish military service owing to his suffering from nervous attacks. He had been frequently without employment. He is married to a woman of honorable family.

FOREIGN TARIFF INFORMATION

Department of Foreign and Domestic Commerce Will Answer Inquiries as to Tariff Rates

Many American manufacturers and exporters are apparently unaware of the facilities in the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, department of commerce, for answering inquiries concerning the customs duties and customs regulations of foreign countries. Such inquiries are often addressed to American consular officers in foreign countries, as well as to commercial agencies, information bureaus, and foreign consulates in the United States. Replies to inquiries addressed to United States consular officers can be expected only after the lapse of considerable time. In many cases commercial agencies and information bureaus obtain their tariff information either from the bureau's publications or through special inquiries addressed to this bureau, while certain foreign consular officers in the United States frequently refer tariff inquiries to this office. It is therefore evident that direct inquiries concerning tariff information addressed to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce should be preferred by American exporters on account of promptness of service as well as accuracy of information.

The tariff work of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce is not rigidly restricted to customs duties and customs regulations. The division of foreign tariffs of the bureau gives attention also to closely allied subjects affecting our foreign commerce, such as the internal revenue laws of foreign countries, the regulations for commercial travelers soliciting business abroad, and the requirements of foreign countries for consular invoices, merchandise marks, standards of purity, and the like. The United States diplomatic and consular officers report on these subjects, and translators and other assistants in the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce examine carefully the official publications of the foreign governments in order that all information regarding foreign tariffs and these allied subjects may be kept up to date.

The answering of specific inquiries concerning customs rates and regulations has come to be an important part of the tariff work of the bureau. The information desired is so varied in character that special statements constituting a basis for compilation. To facilitate the compilation of such statements and to insure accuracy, inquiries should invariably be precise and detailed both as to the nature of the article and the particular countries in which the inquiry may be immediately interested. In foreign countries many articles are subject to customs duty merely on the basis of the component material, and the inquiry should always mention the component material as well as the nature and use of its products. When such detailed description is given, the bureau is the more readily enabled to indicate the foreign rates of duty.

The more substantial and better known side of the tariff work of the bureau is of course that of publication. For a number of the more important commercial countries the complete customs tariffs have been published, such as Tariff Series No. 25 (Customs Tariff of France), Tariff Series No. 7 (Customs Tariff of the German Empire), Tariff Series No. 27 (Customs Tariff of Cuba), and Tariff Series No. 28 (Customs Tariff of Japan). Another line of work for publication has been the compilation of statements of duties on particular classes of articles, either for a selected list of foreign countries, or for all foreign countries. The most recent example is the brief compilation entitled "Duties on Paints and Varnishes in Latin America," which was published in Foreign Tariff Notes No. 2, pages 21-22. There are now in course of preparation publications of this nature showing the rates of duty on textiles, typewriters and typewriter supplies, and automobiles and motor vehicles in foreign countries. The most recent publication is in Daily Consular and Trade Reports, under the caption of "Foreign Tariffs," notice of all important changes and proposed changes in the tariff and allied legislation of foreign countries, and quarterly and semi-annual compilations in pamphlet form as "Foreign Tariff Notes."

Inquiries concerning any of the tariff work indicated above may be addressed to the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C.

Your Pocket Knife is the Key to a Better Smoke

Cut each pipe-load fresh from a good plug just before you smoke and you'll be repaid by a sweeter, slower-burning, cooler smoke than you ever got from a bag or tin of tobacco, no matter how much you paid.

Real Tobacco flavor depends on the moisture in the leaf. The only way to keep all the moisture in tobacco, from factory to pipe, is to press the choicest leaves into a plug and protect it with a natural leaf wrapper.

Tin cans cannot retain all the moisture and flavor in sliced or granulated tobaccos as it is bound to dry out. Dry tobacco smokes fast and hot and burns your tongue.

When you once smoke Master Workman Plug Tobacco and find how evenly and slowly it smokes and learn how good real tobacco flavor tastes, you will always cut your own tobacco fresh from the plug. Buy a plug of Master Workman today and try it for your next smoke.
